

17 ARE KILLED IN NEW IRISH OUTBREAK

URGE ROAD WORK AS AN EMERGENCY

County Highway Council
Devises Way Around
8-Hour Labor Law.

PASS RESOLUTION

Move Made To Hurry Improvements in Allen-co
To Completion.

Resolutions, urging that state funds under construction in Allen-co be considered as emergency improvements, were adopted by directors of the Allen County Roads Council and Lima Auto Club at meetings held Saturday, Joe C. Hartline, president of the auto club stated.

Copies of resolutions were forwarded to Governor Harry L. Davis, Leon C. Herick, state director of highways, and members of the state highway commission at Columbus with request that they be acted upon.

Members of the two organizations consider it of the utmost importance that Allen-co roads under construction be completed as early as possible. "To do this they feel that contractors should be allowed to work their crews in excess of eight hours.

EFFORTS TO FARMERS

"If the roads are not completed," said Hartline, "farmers living along the routes may have to haul grain many miles when crops are harvested. On the other hand, if Allen-co roads are declared to be emergency improvements and are rushed to completion some of the early advantages for traffic by harvest time."

Practically three-fourth of the 112 miles of state aid road program undertaken by the county this year has been let.

Construction has commenced on about four sections, according to Edward F. Clements, division engineer. Other sections let recently will be going soon.

But weather put contractors on the job several weeks behind. When all jobs are going at the principal cross roads of the county will be torn up more or less from Bluffton to the Auglaize corner, and east and west across the Hunting Highway, it is stated.

Traffic will have to detour, to avoid sections under construction.
These conditions were set out in resolutions and it was urged that as soon as the roads can be finished all be taken for the interests of the county.

One contractor, E. B. Reeb, who is building a section of the D line highway north of Lima, has been arrested, charged with violation of the eight hour law.

Reeb was made against him by Justice of the Peace E. M.
Culp. Reeb pleaded not guilty to the charge and will be given a hearing Wednesday. Other contractors have been warned not to work their men in violation of the law.

The state law provides that men employed on state work shall not be employed in excess of eight hours, except in the case of an emergency.
The industrial commission and state highway department are at issue as to how to make a decision in the matter.

Contractors have informed the organization. Hartline said that they desire to work longer hours, by working ten hours, they could secure 25 per cent more pay. All of the work is outside the corporate limits of Lima.

REPUBLICANS TO DECIDE
BONUS ACTION MONDAY

WASHINGTON—The soldier bonus bill will be passed at this session of congress, and President Coolidge will sanction it, Senator Mc-Cumber, Republican chairman of the House Finance Committee asserted Saturday.

The McCumber's statement was based on the fact that the Republican leaders are to meet Monday and decide what action they will take. The insurgent group is fighting for early passage of the bill. McCumber said he had been in touch with Senator Lodge or any other who might change his plans regarding the bonus.

MEMORIAL SERVICE TODAY

A lodge of Pythians will hold a memorial service, Sunday at 2 p. m., in the grove, at Woodbury cemetery. The address will be given by Rev. Warren L.
Hart, pastor of the First Baptist church.

CITY LOSES BIG PLANT;
FLOOR SPACE LACKING

Move Is Seen to Provide Homes for Industries Here.

NO BUILDINGS AVAILABLE

Auto Parts Factory Forced to Pass Up Lima.

Manufacturing companies are passing Lima by because there are no factory buildings immediately available here, J. Kennard Johnson, manager of the chamber of commerce, said Saturday.

There is a possibility, it is stated,
that business men and capitalists will be asked to aid in formulating a plan whereby buildings can be provided to meet contingencies when hurry requests are received for floor space for the establishment of manufacturing plants. It is believed that provisions of this kind will result in desirable factories being secured on short notice.

Quite often, Johnson states, requests are received for floor space in factory lots, which cannot be afforded and thus the city is denied the opportunity of securing industries that give evidence of growth in the matter of production and the employment of labor, while adding to this city's varied list of manufactures.

One of the largest automobile companies in the United States sent a call for more than 100,000 square feet of floor space which they could move their machinery into at once, he said.

There is no time for a new building to be constructed and if a building had been available, Lima would have stood an excellent chance of obtaining the factory and the hundreds of workers, he pointed out.

NO BUILDINGS
A minute survey of the city failed to reveal any building which could in any way answer the requirements of this company," Johnson said. "As a result the inquirers were informed that Lima could not care for them."

Similar requests for factory space must be answered negatively by the chamber of commerce and the manufacturing companies are forced to look elsewhere for sites, Johnson said.

Unusual conditions in the manufacturing world today are responsible for the calls which are coming in. Rapid expansion is often necessary and the city which can supply the building needed gets the plants, Johnson asserts.

Lima builders are preparing to speed up home construction to take care of the rapid expansion which is expected as soon as the Lima Locomotive Works' augmented plant is in full operation.

SANDLES BARRED FROM PRIMARY

Ottawa Man Ruled Out as Candidate for Governor.

COLUMBUS—Alfred Putnam Sandles, seeker of the Democratic nomination for Governor of Ohio, cannot have his name printed on the ballots for the August 8 primary election, Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith, himself a candidate on the Republican ticket, ruled against the Ottawa man Saturday.

Protest was filed by Edward J.
Greely, Columbus attorney, on the ground that the petition was signed and attested by Claude Clark, secretary of Sandles, instead of by Sandles himself.

Smith's decision leaves but three contenders in the race for the Democratic nomination for governor.
They are A. V. Donahy, Judge
James Johnson and T. J. Duffy.
"There is no fraud in the case, I am thoroughly convinced," Secretary of State Smith said Saturday night.
"Neither is there intent to commit fraud, but to throw the doors wide open in constructing laws governing elections, particularly primary elections, I believe tends to defeat the intent of the law and creates the tendency to make a farce of the primary plan."

"The law is simple," Smith declared, "and easily followed in the filling of declaration of candidacy. It is my opinion that no declaration can be legally received unless signed and verified by the candidate. These powers cannot be delegated, I am convinced. I would like to permit the name of A. P. Sandles to go on the ballot, but I have no other recourse than to sustain the protest."

H. F. MCCORMICK
TO WED SOON

Reported Following Operation on the Harvester King.

FIANCEE IS NOW IN PARIS

Millionaire Patient Cables Her That He Is Recovering.

(By CARL VICTOR LITTLE.)
CHICAGO — (United Press)—
Harold F. McCormick, multi-millionaire, was recovering Saturday night from a delicate operation at the Wesley Memorial Hospital.

The operation was performed by Dr. Victor D. Lespinasse, specialist, who has become famous by transplanting glands to restore youth and vitality.

McCormick was operated upon amid the greatest secrecy last Monday night to the stationery firemen, oilers and water tenders affected by the labor board's latest wage cut.
Officials of the clerks and signa-men's unions notified their organizations formally of the order, and instructed them to forward the decision of the men as to striking.

The real business of the convention will begin next week, when night sessions will be resorted to to clear away a great mass of resolutions prior to the election of officers.

In that connection Lewis, who last year opposed Samuel Compers for the federal presidency, announced emphatically Saturday that he would not be a candidate this year. Thus far no one else has arisen to contest with Compers.

UNION MERGER PROPOSED

CLEVELAND — (United Press)— Merging of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, two of the largest railroad unions, was announced Saturday night as a move of labor to mobilize its strength into a few organizations as possible.

Plans of the merger which were initiated some time ago at the convention of the firemen and engineers at Houston, Texas, are under way, William S. Carter, president of the firemen and enginemen, said.
Following the appointment of a commission to investigate the possibility of a consolidation.

NEW UNION PLANNED

CINCINNATI — (United Press)—
The International Brotherhood of Office Boys, may be a fact in the near future.

An office boys' union is not exactly within the scope of the campaign for unionization of "white collar" workers in offices, ordered by the American Federation of Labor convention here this week, but it might grow out of that campaign, its sponsors admit. In any event, they hope to organize all the office workers of adult age.

There are 2,000,000 or more office workers in the United States and Canada and comparatively few of them are organized," said Herman Detrem, of the Bookkeepers and Accountants Union, who with E. C. Scott, of the Stenographers, Typewriters, Bookkeepers and Assistants Union introduced the resolution for intensive organization among the "white collar" help.

NURSE ON DUTY, STRICKEN, SUBJECTED TO OPERATION

Miss Helen Funk, nurse in training at St. Rita's hospital, residing at 263 N. West-st., was stricken with appendicitis while at her work at the hospital, Saturday.
It was deemed necessary to perform an operation Saturday night.
Recovery of Miss Funk was predicted by surgeons at the hospital, following surgery.

Rail and Miners' Unions to Hold Joint Conference Tuesday

NEW BALLOTS OUT

Firemen, Oilers and Water Tenders Are to Vote on Strike

CINCINNATI — (United Press)—
An agreement for joint action by the coal miners and railroad workers would force a speedy showdown in the controversy over wages and working conditions, in the opinion of union leaders here.

They frankly acknowledged Saturday night that the chief value they see in the forthcoming conference on joint action is the likelihood that will cause public opinion, the employers and perhaps government agencies to bestir themselves to bring about industrial peace.

There is not any concrete program of joint action in the minds of those responsible for the conference. They may work out some such program, they said, but the psychological effect of united action by two such powerful groups of labor organizations is what they are really counting on.

SHEK "ESSENTIAL JUSTICE"

The first formal conference will occur here next Tuesday evening.
The invitation issued Friday by E.
M. Jewell, head of the rail unions, secretly heard here to the United Mine Workers in confer was formally accepted Saturday by John L.
Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Lewis announced from the floor of the American Federation of Labor Convention that he was glad to accept on behalf of the United Miners. He said the only rule they prescribed for the conference was that it should discuss ways and means of "getting for the workers the essential justice that is necessary."

Strike ballots were sent out Sat-

LIE DETECTOR REPLACES JURY

HENRY WILKENS AND THE "LIE-DETECTING MACHINE" WHICH FREED HIM OF SUSPICION WITH THE SLAYING OF HIS WIFE.

Husband Saved From Suspicion of Wife Murder by Machine.

SAN FRANCISCO — (Special)— Justice in criminal cases eventually will be supplanted by machines!
This prediction is made on the basis of the case of Henry Wilkens, saved from the suspicion of having murdered his wife, by his own heartbeats registered on the sphygmom-anometer, or lie detector.

"There is no question that this machine can judge whether a man, accused of a crime, is telling the truth or is lying, more surely than can a jury," says Professor John Larson and Louis Browning, of Berkeley's scientific police squad.

After having trapped hundreds of liars, they were called into the Wilkens case and their finding that Wilkens was telling the truth about his wife's death was accepted by the San Francisco police as being as final as if it were a jury's verdict.

Wilkens reported auto bandits held up his wife and himself and killed her. But it developed she had sued him recently for separate maintenance.

Then two suspects were arrested; Wilkens failed to identify either of them, and they were released. Later detectives learned one of these men formerly had worked for Wilkens.
He protested he was so distracted over his wife's death that he had failed to recognize the man.

So the lie detector was brought in. Scientists and police watched while Wilkens was subjected to a third degree. The devices recording his internal reactions showed no variation as he stuck to his story.

"The machine says he's telling the truth," Professor Larson finally announced. And the police released Wilkens from suspicion.

DETECTIVES HUNT FOR HUSBAND

Albert Marshall Sought on Kidnaping Charge.

CINCINNATI — Lawyers failed to agree Saturday on charges against Albert Marshall, proprietor of an exclusive dancette and Toad Stool Inn, of kidnaping his wife, Mrs. Clara Marshall, 30, from the links of the Maketawah Golf Club, Avondale, Friday, is legal.

Some lawyers hold that under the old common law, a wife is a husband's property. He can carry her any place he wishes to take her. But lawyers, practicing the newer laws, contend a wife does not have to permit herself to be carried off against her wishes.

Like Young Lochinvar, Marshall seized his wife, with the aid of three friends, Friday, as she was playing golf, and carried her to a waiting automobile. Before friends could run to her aid, Mrs. Marshall was carried away.

Ten hours later Mrs. Marshall was found at Magnolia Springs, Ind. Her husband, she says, abandoned her when she refused to become reconciled.

During the ride of a hundred miles or more in the automobile, Mrs.
Marshall told her parents and detectives, she continued to fight until she lost consciousness. When she revived the automobile was stopped and she leaped out and ran to a farm house. She exhibited bruises and torn clothing.

Detectors were searching for Marshall and George D. MacDunham, manager of the Toad Stool Inn, on warrants charging kidnaping.

Mrs. Marshall filed suit for divorce several days ago, charging cruelty. She is the daughter of William Schaw, shoe manufacturer.

REGULARS IN FIERCE CLASH

Battle is Precipitated by Outrage On Two Young Women

MANY WOUNDED

Property Also Reduced to Ashes When Torch is Applied

(By GEORGE MACDONOUGH)
DUBLIN.—(United Press).—Republican insurgents took a terrible toll of life in Ulster Saturday, in reprisal for assault upon two Catholic girls.

Inflamed by reports of an outrage
at Dundalk, armed bands of Sinn Feibers struck in several parts of the northern province, burning and slaying ruthlessly.

At least 17 persons are known to have been killed and more than a score wounded.

THREE-HOUR SIEGE

Following the outraging of two Catholic girls at Dundalk by members of the Ulster constabulary, republican insurgents engaged the police in a fierce gun battle. Eleven were killed in the fighting, losses being about equally divided, according to reports reaching Dublin Saturday night.

The Ulster constables are said to have entered the girls' home and assaulted them, after stripping them of their night clothing.

Sinn Feibers, hearing of the outrage, stormed the police barracks, where the constables withdrew a three-hour siege.

FARMERS SHOT DOWN

Ireland was once more aflame with sectarian warfare this weekend. One woman and four men were shot dead and two others wounded during attacks by insurgents upon Unionist property in the Bessbrook district of the Ulster border. One report said the killings assumed the aspect of a massacre.

Protestant farmers and their families being called from their beds and shot down without mercy.
Four men were taken from their homes to a nearby field and shot to death. Perhaps the saddest tragedy was the attack upon a cottage where raiders burst in, ordered an aged couple from bed and shot them side by side. Terrible reprisals in Belfast for these outrages are feared.

An Ulster constabulary patrol was ambushed Saturday morning at Fork Hill, South Armagh, one constable being killed and another wounded.

QUIET REIGNS AS CONTEST NEARS

Board of Elections and Candidates Awaiting Action.

Activity around the Allen-co board of elections has been practically suspended in the first week following the closing of entry lists for the primary heats August 8. J.
M. Madigan, chairman declared Saturday.

Where a week ago the board offices were thronged with candidates filing or watching to see if rival strength was developing, the past week has been marked with quietude.

Names of a number of candidates from other counties in the district, certified to the board, have been the only entries during the week.

Candidates for the most part have either jumped into their campaigns for nomination or are girding themselves for the fray.

Some have taken to the tall timber, and are after the country vote.
Others who consider the crucial battle will be in Lima, are busy passing cards to voters here.

Still others haven't taken the field but are planning to do so.
The show down is some 50 odd days away.

ACTION ON SHIP SUBSIDY EXPECTED TO BE DEFERRED

WASHINGTON—Assailed from all sides, the administration ship subsidy bill probably will not be put to a test in the house until after the senate has passed the tariff bill under a compromise plan tentatively agreed upon late between President Harding and Republican House leaders.

Harding did not consent definitely to sidetracking of the subsidy legislation, upon which he has been demanding immediate action, but party leaders are confident that he will do so after further conferences are held at the White House next week.

PAGEANT FOLKS TO BE MOBILIZED

Will Assemble at Fautot Park First Time Tuesday Night.

EIGHT HUNDRED SIGNED

Twenty Episodes on Program of Historical Events.

"Share Each Others Burden." That is the motto of the historical pageant which will be held in Lima June 30 to July 4.

Civic organizations backing it claim that it will be the largest and most interesting pageant ever staged in Lima or northwestern Ohio. There will be 20 episodes and 2,000 people are expected to take part.

Mobilization of the units which are to take part in the production will be held Tuesday evening at Fautot park. It is planned that all those to take part in the pageant will be assigned parts at that time.

REPORT MONDAY Captains and Lieutenants are to report Monday, the full list of the performers. More than 800 have been signed up and hundreds of enrollment blanks are yet to come in.

Two musical features were announced by J. L. Shaffer, director, Saturday. One of these is a replica of the first citizens to visit Lima. This happened in 1850 and was a day long remembered by the early inhabitants.

Prize-winning drill teams from several of the national orders will stage their formations during the pageant. Each team will be dressed in the full uniform of the order.

Episodes will be as follows: First part: Scene at Port Amanda; The Indians; The Pilgrims; American victory in 1819; Naming Lima in 1821; Political rally and sports in 1840; Election of first mayor in 1842; First wedding; First circus and the Civil War.

WAITS REQUESTED Part two, Return of the soldiers in 1865; Volunteer fire fighters; Oil; Every day affairs, drills and dances; Spanish American war, 1898; Drills by fraternal orders and group dances; Return of Quilina and Pe-Arch-70; World War; and mass singing with a flag dance by 100 children.

Performances of the pageant will be held on the evenings of June 30, July 1 and 2 and both afternoon and evening of July 4. A field meet will be held Saturday afternoon, July 1, for juniors, intermediates, seniors and adults.

A fireworks program is also planned for each evening. Colored lights and spotlights playing over the performers and the crowd will also be in evidence.

All performances will be held at the fair grounds in front of the grand stand. This will afford ample seating capacity for the large crowds expected.

LISTS STILL OPEN Those who desire to aid in the performances and who have not yet in their names are asked to do so Monday. They may enroll at the pageant headquarters in the Business College building, at the Y. M. C. A., or the Y. W. C. A.

All profits will be placed in the welfare funds of the American Insurance Union and the Social Service Bureau.

SWIMMING ART IS ACQUIRED BY 80

Youngsters Will Exhibit Ability Before Parents and Friends.

Eighty lads who have acquired the knack of keeping themselves moving in water, are going to demonstrate their ability before their parents and friends, Tuesday night, at the Y. M. C. A.

The eighty lads are the first four-score of the 150 or more who took advantage of the Lion Club Y. M. C. A. tree offer to teach them the art of swimming.

During the week that classes were conducted at the Y. these eighty boys have learned to swim at least 20 feet, according to the swimming instructors.

They will take part in an exhibition Tuesday night, to show their parents and friends what they have accomplished. At that time, badges will be presented them in reward for their success. Anyone interested in swimming, is invited, Y officials declare.

Classes for those who have not yet mastered the art of swimming will be conducted during the coming week, it has been announced. All who took advantage of the free offer will be taught to swim before the classes are dismissed.

Loses Mother, But Wins Wife To Take Place

When the mother of Gerald L. Morehead, 20 years of age, died Tuesday, his world seemed dark. It brightened Saturday, however, when he took unto himself a wife.

For a year and a half Gerald and Gertrude J. Drotzler, 19 years of age, 760 South Broadway, have been keeping company.

Both have been working during the past few months, hoping that they could be married soon. He is a hotel operative and she has been special messenger for the United Press and The Lima News.

When Gerald's mother died Tuesday and was to be buried Thursday Gertrude obtained a leave of absence and went with him to Dayton, where the mother was to be buried.

Following the funeral, Gerald realized his loss and the full force of his loneliness came upon him. As a result they were married Saturday noon in Dayton by Rev. Hubbard J. Jewett, pastor of the Broadway M. E. church.

They are at home at the bride's residence on South Broadway. They will both return to their jobs Monday morning.

PRINCIPALS INVOLVED IN PREACHER'S AFFAIR

Left to right: Rev. W. W. Culp, Miss Esther Hughes, 18-year-old boarder at the Culp home; the Spring Valley church, where Rev. Culp preached, and Mrs. Culp, the pastor's wife, with her baby twins. These are the youngest of nine children.

LOSES 3 FORTUNES, MAKES FOURTH; TELLS HOW

(By NEA SERVICE) NEW YORK — (Special) — Penniless after having made and lost three fortunes of $100,000 each, but today at 70 wealthier than ever!

Now Harrington Emerson is winner of several houses on Riverside Drive, head of a corporation of efficiency engineers and interested in other enterprises. His principal business is guiding others to success.

At 30, he quit a professorship in the University of Nebraska to go into business. He made his first fortune by lucky land speculation. After losing his money, he made a second fortune in the same manner. Losing all again, he started dealing in farm securities, only to repeat.

Broke for the third time, he took a reckoning of the cause of his failures and evolved new principles, on which his present remarkable success has been achieved.

By HARRINGTON EMERSON President, Emerson Engineers Do you want to become a $50,000-a-year man?

Start in early, break into the office of the executive of a large corporation—even as an office boy—and make every effort to work up.

Develop the characteristics of leadership:

1. Conscience; have ideals, aims—high ones.
2. Character; be reliable and trustworthy.
3. Competence; know your work thoroughly.
4. Courage; never give up; stick to a finish; have initiative and energy.
5. Charm; be likeable and other persons will be glad to cooperate with you.

Then conquer the great weakness of mankind—perversity. Every species of animal has its peculiar characteristics. I don't know why. It simply is so. A dog likes to play the game. A horse likes to be led. Man likes to be perversely.

The man who wants to succeed must overcome this natural weakness. He must remember what one of the developers of the Henry Ford Company called the five-pointed star:

FIRST: A young man should never allow the employer to choose him; he should always choose the employer. He should never associate himself with an undesirable man.

SECOND: He must decide whether the business is one of which he would be proud.

THIRD: Has the firm the financial backing to put its project thru?

FOURTH: Has it the proper plant and equipment?

FIFTH: Has it the sales force that can dispose of the product? If these questions can be answered in the affirmative, let the young man join—at any salary.

He'll succeed—and rise as far as his qualities of leadership entitle him to go.

PLAN SURVEY OF ALLEN FARMS

Experts to Try Establishment of Model Farm.

A survey of three Allen-co farms will be made this week in an effort to establish model farms on them.

J. A. Hovenstine, rural engineering extension expert, will assist H. J. Ridge, farm agent, in the survey.

Farms which will be visited are C. W. Miller, Bath; H. R. Denister, Spencer; and C. B. Thomas, Sugar Creek. Complete farm layouts will be studied at the first two and a ventilator system at the third.

Those who are interested in the disposal of other farmers in the county and all possible aid will be given those who desire to plan their buildings so as to lessen the work.

This survey will be made Tuesday. Three meetings are scheduled for Monday. Members of the Shawnee club will meet at the Elm View school at 1 p. m. The Shawnee farm bureau will meet in the evening with an open meeting and the Richmond health project leaders will meet at Lanyette in the evening.

Harrod farm bureau will meet Wednesday evening. Chinch bug control will be studied. Monroe health leaders will meet Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Alvin Whistler.

Soil tests were held at the Blue Rock school, Saturday. This was in conjunction with a baseball game and a general picnic of farm bureau folk.

SALVATION ARMY PLANS TAG DAY

Need Financial Aid; Campaign to Be Held Later.

Tag day for the purpose of tiding the local branch of the Salvation Army over an acute financial situation until such a time as a campaign can be conducted, will be held within the next few weeks, it has been announced.

Following a survey which was made, it has been found that due to the absence from the city of many people who wish to aid by helping solicit and by their donations, postponement of the campaign to solicit funds was advisable.

Campaign will be conducted early in the fall, Capt. C. Culbert of the local Salvation Army says.

The Salvation Army goes into the highways and by-ways and aids those who need financial help and at the same time, points them to the more uplifting and spiritual things of life, Captain Culbert asserts.

WEATHER MAN STANDING PAT

If the weatherman ever gets out of the rut into which he has fallen during the past few weeks, Lima will probably experience snow, sleet and ice.

But since he insists upon standing pat, the predictions refuse to change. His latest is the same old "fair."

The only difference between the forecast for Sunday and Monday, from any of the past several days is the fact that "warmer" has been added to the list of varieties.

Saturday night, a cool breeze prevailed over the contrast, for the heavy heat that enveloped all during the day. Many people advantaged the relief offered by the cool evening. Autoists were out aplenty. Shoppers made the best of the opportunity.

CEREMONIES FILL DAY FOR PARISH

Important Religious and Educational Events at St. Gerard's.

Sunday will be a day of great importance in the parish of St. Gerard, Elizabeth-st and Robb-ave.

It will be celebrated as Feast day of "Our Lady of Perpetual Help," many churches of the Redemptorist Fathers being named after this saint.

At the mass at 10 a. m. there will be a "Procession of the Blessed Sacrament."

In the evening at 7:30 the annual Commencement exercises will be held in the church. The program will consist of impressive music.

The address will be delivered by Rev. Father James Clark, pastor of St. Gerard's. The services will close by the singing of "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name" and solemn benediction.

Graduates of St. Gerard's High school are as follows: Mary Garlema, Clara Johnson, Alice Krieger, Loretta Norton, Mary O'Connell, Rose Shanahan, Dorothy Vessey and Frederick Deaubler.

At the exercises, pupils of the eighth grade will be given certificates, entitling them to entrance into High school. Eighth grade pupils, to whom these certificates will be given are: James Brennan, Robert Gremling, Miner Kerr, Thomas Mahoney, Clarence O'Connor, Joseph Sullivan, Elvin Zinke, Patricia O'Connell, Magdalene and Angelina Pohlbel, Marguerite Resh, Helen Riley, Florence Smith, Frances Shanahan and Mary Winkler.

KINDERGARTEN TAG DAY NETS TOTAL SUM OF $250

An estimate given Saturday night by Mrs. M. D. Owen, chairman of the tag day in behalf of Miss Chapin south side free kindergarten, placed the receipts of the day at $250.

The tag day was expected to net $500 for the fund, but the women in charge of the plan are very well pleased and are grateful to the donors. Thirty-five little girls sold tags on the downtown streets. Headquarters was maintained at the Harman store.

The kindergarten work is under the direction of Mrs. Louise McDonald.

SCORES RECORD AS TELEGRAPHER

DAYTON — T. Ross Kepler, who learned telegraphy here, claims the world's record for speed and accuracy.

KEPLER The contest was staged in Columbus. There were seven contestants in the speed test. Kepler set the record in 15 minutes, 43 seconds, using 519 words in a matter of 2 hours 15 minutes, averaging 68 words a minute. Kepler's speed record exceeds 58 words a minute, Benjamin T. Rick's record in San Francisco 1906.

PLAN TO BOOST CHAUTAUQUA

HARRINGTON EMERSON

AT 70 YEARS OF AGE MADE A NEW START AND IS RICHER THAN EVER.

LOST THREE FORTUNES OF $100,000 EACH AND—

Now Harrington Emerson is winner of several houses on Riverside Drive, head of a corporation of efficiency engineers and interested in other enterprises. His principal business is guiding others to success.

At 30, he quit a professorship in the University of Nebraska to go into business. He made his first fortune by lucky land speculation. After losing his money, he made a second fortune in the same manner. Losing all again, he started dealing in farm securities, only to repeat.

Broke for the third time, he took a reckoning of the cause of his failures and evolved new principles, on which his present remarkable success has been achieved.

By HARRINGTON EMERSON President, Emerson Engineers Do you want to become a $50,000-a-year man?

Start in early, break into the office of the executive of a large corporation—even as an office boy—and make every effort to work up.

Develop the characteristics of leadership:

1. Conscience; have ideals, aims—high ones.
2. Character; be reliable and trustworthy.
3. Competence; know your work thoroughly.
4. Courage; never give up; stick to a finish; have initiative and energy.
5. Charm; be likeable and other persons will be glad to cooperate with you.

Then conquer the great weakness of mankind—perversity. Every species of animal has its peculiar characteristics. I don't know why. It simply is so. A dog likes to play the game. A horse likes to be led. Man likes to be perversely.

The man who wants to succeed must overcome this natural weakness. He must remember what one of the developers of the Henry Ford Company called the five-pointed star:

FIRST: A young man should never allow the employer to choose him; he should always choose the employer. He should never associate himself with an undesirable man.

SECOND: He must decide whether the business is one of which he would be proud.

THIRD: Has the firm the financial backing to put its project thru?

FOURTH: Has it the proper plant and equipment?

FIFTH: Has it the sales force that can dispose of the product? If these questions can be answered in the affirmative, let the young man join—at any salary.

He'll succeed—and rise as far as his qualities of leadership entitle him to go.

PLAN SURVEY OF ALLEN FARMS

Experts to Try Establishment of Model Farm.

A survey of three Allen-co farms will be made this week in an effort to establish model farms on them.

J. A. Hovenstine, rural engineering extension expert, will assist H. J. Ridge, farm agent, in the survey.

Farms which will be visited are C. W. Miller, Bath; H. R. Denister, Spencer; and C. B. Thomas, Sugar Creek. Complete farm layouts will be studied at the first two and a ventilator system at the third.

Those who are interested in the disposal of other farmers in the county and all possible aid will be given those who desire to plan their buildings so as to lessen the work.

This survey will be made Tuesday. Three meetings are scheduled for Monday. Members of the Shawnee club will meet at the Elm View school at 1 p. m. The Shawnee farm bureau will meet in the evening with an open meeting and the Richmond health project leaders will meet at Lanyette in the evening.

Harrod farm bureau will meet Wednesday evening. Chinch bug control will be studied. Monroe health leaders will meet Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Alvin Whistler.

Soil tests were held at the Blue Rock school, Saturday. This was in conjunction with a baseball game and a general picnic of farm bureau folk.

School Out, Now They're Getting Married, Says Clerk

Don Cupid, the little mischief maker with bow and arrow, has been playing havoc in the ranks of Allen-co's pretty school teachers during the past week.

As a result there are a number of teachers who have turned their backs on educational pursuits and will make a close study of cooking and household economics. They have laid aside the ferule and taken up the rolling pin and broom.

LOTS OF 'EM
There are lots of teachers getting married, now school is out, declared Jessie P. Miller, license clerk.

From what they say while getting papers, I assume that a lot of them are making the matrimonial leap, because they figure it will give them what every woman wants.

What do they want? Why a home of course.

More than a dozen pretty school marmas have secured license in the past week, Miss Miller says. She believes there will be a number more before the end of June.

Miss Miller also calls attention to the fact that a number of prospective brides and grooms listed their occupation as students. Some of them are right out of college, she says.

NEW LICENSES
Six couples were licensed to wed Saturday. They are:

Rollin Ray Durant, 27, student Nesvillville, and Gladys Marguerite Howard, 24, school teacher, 322 S. Pine-st.

Will Irwin, 25, machinist, and Norma W. Gamble, both of Sugar Creek-tp.

Frank Griford Hurley, 41, machinist, 135 E. Eureka-st., and Edith Fay Speers, 38, housekeeper, 41 S. 8th-st.

Albert Peters, 21, machinist, and Judith Jay Sherry, 16, both of Elida.

Ray Binkley, 21, painter, 1303 W. High-st., and Neva Amanda Long, 18, seamstress, 536 N. Kenilworth-av.

Paul Ackermann Adams, 25, minister Bluffton, and Faery Beulah Fisher, 23, Bluffton.

WAR CHIEF HITS AT PRIMARY

Secretary Weeks Sees Danger Ahead For Government

OFFICE SEEKERS ARE BUSY

Progressivism Is Becoming Rampant in Ohio

(BY J. W. FISHER.)

Courting the danger of a possibility of being termed a pessimist along a particular line, this watchman on the political tower cannot refrain from comment concerning certain specific statements made by none other than Secretary of War Weeks, a Republican, about the direct primary.

Time and again this column has taken up the cudgel against a further continuance of a plan which many are coming to believe is tearing at the very vitals of organized government, thru indifference on the part of those who blithely thought the primary would be a panacea for all political ills. It has been the reverse. Men high up now admit it, after the thing has been given a trial for several years.

Speaking at commencement exercises at Western Reserve university, Secretary Weeks said aptly to make official Washington shiver. It was a non-partisan affair and Weeks spoke as a citizen and not as an official of the national administration. Termining his theme "The Decline of the American Government," the secretary of war declared that the government will head toward ruin unless we right about face on some things. And think of that coming from a Harding cabinet officer!

He accuses the direct primary, the "bloody" agitation and the country's readiness to accept constitutional amendments as being evidences that the government is heading away from the ancient safeguards and toward complete social democracy. "The legislative branch of our national government probably has never been at a lower ebb than it is today," Weeks said. "And don't forget he is a cabinet member."

"The direct primary," Weeks said, "has so palpably lessened the quality of men willing to serve in public affairs that prompt action should be taken to greatly modify or repeal it." Wonder what Warren G. said to Weeks when he returned to Washington? For in spite of the fact that the primary plan didn't do much for the President when he was a candidate in the Presidential preferential primary in 1920, he is said to have hitched his kite to the primary star. Maybe, however, he has jarred it loose, since his administration has become such a wobbly affair. Perhaps he feels he'll fare better next time if the primary system is given the boot. And, also, he may be thinking of some of his friends.

Back in the old days, when party leaders were young and full of political enthusiasm, the open delegate convention was found to be all that might be desired until the reformers got busy and saddled the primary plan on an unsuspecting public. Under the old order there was more interest in political affairs than there has ever been since. There was no thought of asking the general public to pay the costs incurred when parties staged their conventions.

For the most part, the wheel horses on the guard lines saw to it that none but worthy men were tagged for election day. There were better party organizations, more clearly defined issues, better results in the choosing of officials and at practically no cost to the taxpayers, save for the holding of the elections.

Under the primary plan, additional expensive election machinery had to be set up. The privilege of getting on the party tickets and from the time the primary lists close until the day the final heat of the party marathon is run there is danger of incompetents getting in the position of commanding their party vote in the election to follow. This is in no wise directed at any particular candidate on either party ticket in this good year of 1922, but it is a condition that is always faced under the primary plan.

Weeks is right. The primary plan has aided in reducing the standard of men aspiring to office. A smooth campaigner can go out among the voters and "put something over" for his own benefit, covering his tracks at least until after the election. But it hasn't always been so. The convention system would catch him at it before he got far. It is an inherent trait for a real American citizen to desire to be square. Credulous persons are victims of unscrupulous politicians and favor seekers.

May the day soon come when the evils that Weeks complains of will be remedied. They must be, else there is the greatest danger ahead.

Since the excitement of pre-filing day limit has subsided, aspirants for party nomination have settled back for a new breathing spell before getting the wheels in motion for the dizzy August 8 struggle. They are taking the measure of the situation, framing their line of attack and getting ready for the final dash.

With a multitude of seekers of nomination in both the old parties, there is little danger of a lack of fireworks after the ball starts rolling right. There are men on party tickets for high up offices, smiling and smirking before the public which has votes to bestow, who would not get to first base if the primary system wasn't there to aid them in fooling the public. Just think of it, eight or nine candidates on the Republican ticket for Governor, all eager to snatch out of the hands of a one-term of the same political faith the reins of power.

We have the spectacle of certain men seeking the United States Senate who are of such calibre that perhaps their near friends and neighbors would hesitate to support them for town councilmen. They may get by under the primary plan, but it couldn't happen in a delegate convention. The primary system affords an excellent opportunity for the Anti Saloon League to demonstrate its usefulness as an auxiliary and first aid to the Republican party.

It is asserted that the back of the candidacy of Carmel A. Thompson for Governor and in opposition to Harvey C. Smith and Charles L. Knight. After the fight in the Republican household is over and temporary discord is ironed out, you'll find the league in the front ranks fighting for the men nominated on the G. O. P. ticket. Remembering what the league did for Harry Davis two years ago, it wouldn't be surprising to see its leaders find an excuse for supporting Homer Durand, should he land the Republican nomination. The league is for anybody who can get on the Republican ticket. And that extends down to county offices. Don't forget that nearly two months until primary day and then three more months until election day. The candidates will give the voters a run for their money.

There is a new spirit in Ohio that recalls the upheaval of 1912, when the G. O. P. was punished for its misdeeds. It is difficult to differentiate between radicalism and progressivism in attempting to define the thing that is gripping at the hearts and minds of men and women, but it is here, nevertheless. This very situation indicates that a hot fight among Republican chieftains is assured. Knowing the Ohio voter, either Republican or Democrat, to be safe and sane, it is difficult to look upon the new state of mind other than as progressivism. The landslide of 1920 placed in the saddle the ultra-conservative, standard old guard element. The people generally have had their fill of it and will embrace the first opportunity to manifest it.

In the light of this apparent situation, you need not be at all surprised if the Republican voters refuse to respond to the party lash in the forthcoming primary for Thompson and do for Knight, Williams or Durnell for Governor while the party voters did for Beveridge in Indiana, Pinchot in Pennsylvania and Brookheart in Iowa.

There are many points of resemblance in the situation in Ohio to that in the states named just above, altho it is admitted that it still lacks the bitter flavor. This may come later. Supporters of the militant Roosevelt may again come into their own. There is a demand for a fair primary law that will insure liberty and equality.

Colonel Thompson has been thrust onto the scene as the administration candidate and to court the favor of the Governor. Davis crowd he has taken a milk and water stand in favor of the reorganization measure which Davis crammed down the throats of the Ohio public, with the aid of a subservient legislature and a divided supreme court. If Thompson is landed as the G. O. P. candidate, the Progressives will have been licked to a frazzle. But keep your eye on the Republican contest for the Governorship. Knight's thunder, Durand's attack on prohibition, Smith's fight for the initiative and referendum and the high spots of the ideals of other candidates will make the party elephant dizzy.

In a statement to the press of Ohio, A. P. Sandies of Ottawa, says: "I have filed my petition with the Secretary of State as a candidate for the nomination for Governor of Ohio on the Democratic ticket." Edward J. Greely, of Columbus, says Put didn't. Greely has filed protest against admitting the name of Sandies to the primary ticket, averring that Sandies himself did not sign his own petition and that he did not swear to it; that both these functions were performed by Claude L. Clark, Sandies' secretary. Put isn't permitting a little thing like a protest to discourage him. He has set up campaign headquarters in Columbus and is backed by the Ohio macadam interests. Says the names on his petition are "home folks." Sandies asserts that one of them is an old school teacher who gave him two licks in one day; another is an ex-school teacher who gave him his first school to teach and the other three are good neighbors.

Sandies would save the uniform tax rule, stop waste of the road dollar, declare a legislative vacation, give a square deal and no special favors, provide a bonus for war boys or prison for war grafting, promises value received for taxes paid, fire loafers on political jobs, have no party bosses and various other things he takes time and trouble to explain in a circular.

Vic Donahay is after Governor Davis' goat tooth and claw, T. J. Duffy is temporarily inactive and Judge Johnson hasn't unlimbered for the primary fray.

If Put Sandies hurried away to Canada on a business trip after preparing his petition, failing to sign it as Greely asserts, it's a joke on Put. Considering that the Putnam-com man is a stickler for care and detail in everything he does. Whether the row kicked up by Greely will result in Sandies' name being barred from the primary ticket, remains to be seen. It's up to the Secretary of State. And being a Republican, Secretary Smith will probably see the advantage to his own candidacy by stirring up all the trouble he can on the Democratic side.

Congressman Johnny Cable is a wise one. Like a good blacksmith, he knows that the best results are obtained by striking while the iron is hot. John is a candidate unopposed for re-nomination by his party in the 4th Ohio district. It's going to take votes to put him over again and it is admitted that the "4th ain't" what she used to be.

In fact, it is apparent that the district which slopped over for Cable two years ago will right itself in behalf of a Democratic nominee this year. Sensing this and wishing to gain as much support as possible, to offset the disastrous results of sundry postoffice wars, John is about to throw into the legislative hopper bills for a $100,000 federal building at Celina and $75,000 for a similar structure at St. Marys. The government already owns a site at St. Marys and the proposed $100,000 is expected to provide both site and building at Celina.

At any rate, John guessed bad again. St. Marys folks are already jealous because a bigger appropriation is asked for Celina. The snows of winter and the suns of summer will come and go many times before either sees the long green. Omnibus bills are unpopular.

While J. H. Goeke, and U. M. Shappell of Allen-co and Charles Tilden and William D. Brumbaugh of Darke-co are battling for the un-per hand in the 4th district for the Democratic nomination for Congress, John L. Cable is permitted to sit pretty in Washington, unopposed for re-nomination by the Republicans. But after August 8, John will perforce have to get himself busy in the home district. If he expects to come anywhere near cantering home again with the bacon, John's friends and John himself probably feel by this time that his job is cut out for him this year. He'll be surprised if he picks off another commission, for despite the fact the Democrats are staging a four-cornered row, it is in such condition that no matter which of the four wins, he'll have practically a united party back of him in the fall campaign. Besides, it looks like a bad year for Republican Congressmen, anyway.

Since he has become a candidate for Governor, Charles Landon Knight is not so fiery in his utterances, either in the columns of his newspapers in Springfield and in Akron or on the platform. He has been attacking Senator Truman Newberry viciously in his papers, however.

Rupert Beetham has thus far been affording most of the fireworks in the early stages of the G. O. P. primary campaign for Governor. The Cadiz man is everlastingly lambasting each and every one of the other eight candidates he is opposing. He starts off with the charge that coddles of money have already been dumped into the campaign and that women being paid $15 a day are running over the state in the interest of other candidates. This is taken as a threat slap at Colonel Carmel A. Thompson, who is making a particular effort to organize the women voters in his own behalf.

Beetham also asserts that the secretary of the Ohio Veterinary association is sending out letters to members telling them that a candidate for Governor, which he does not name, has made overtures promising the veterinarians the sort of practice act they desired.

With about as much chance as a sick lemon heaved overboard in mid-ocean from a Lasker liquor liner, John J. Lentz, has projected himself into the Democratic primary campaign as a candidate for United States Senator, against Senator Atlee Pomerene.

Lentz sets up a hue and cry that Pomerene is seeking a third term. If this Lentz person is able to convince any considerable number of voters that Ohio Democrats would be helping a situation by retiring Senator Pomerene at the very height of his usefulness to the party and his country, in favor of Lentz, he'll have accomplished more than most people will give him the credit of being able to do.

If the only thing Lentz can find to hurl against the candidacy of Senator Pomerene is the third term bugaboo, he ought to get no more votes than would be commanded by Homer Durand in a conference of Methodist ministers.

But, after all, Lentz has a right to become a candidate and take advantage of the primary law—if he can.

Gift Pinchot, after licking the administration forces to a frazzle in the Pennsylvania primary as a Progressive, for Governor, in turn has been licked in the first after-the-primary skirmish. Pinchot became a pitiful spectacle when, with victory perched on his banner, he licked the boots of the President, whose backers fought him to the very last. In a labored address, Pinchot painted wings on the occupant of the White House, making a bid for party harmony to insure his own election in the fall. Beveridge did the same thing in Indiana.

But the expected has happened. Refusing to bury the hatchet, or permit others to later it, the administration forces got right back at the Pinchot crowd. Pinchot was defeated in his efforts to have Asher Miner elected chairman of the state committee. W. Harry Baker, organization candidate, was elected, $1 to $1.

Pinchot is getting what he deserves. He's up against a rule or ruin bunch and if they don't go to the extent of voting for his Democratic opponent in the election, he'll be lucky.

So far as can be discerned from this distance, the G. O. P. of Allen-co has not yet succeeded in getting men to stand for election as central committeemen in all of the precincts. There are spots where the various factions were unable to settle on any one particular candidate before the final hour of filing petitions on June 9, hence the places are still open, it is stated.

Another element that enters into the situation is a well developed state of feeling among party activists that there's nothing in sight anyway, so far as prospects of a Republican victory are concerned this fall, hence they are deserting what they admit appears like a sinking ship.

The Progressives are whetting long blades knives to a keen edge, and more than one aspirant will feel its edge on his political gutlet.

The anti-Old Guard element hasn't forgiven Congressman Cable for his selection of a postmaster in Lima and they are not likely to do so. It's worrying John.

St. Marys, in Auglaize-co, the scene of almost as many political wars as have been and still are waged in Darke-co, is brewing another. Postmaster Charley Hunter, a Democrat, will step down and out about September 1st. Knowing this, some think like a baker's dozen of Republicans are preening themselves for the favor of Congressman John L. Cable, to become Charley's successor.

Editor John L. Sullivan, who used to sit in the councils of the high and mighty as a regular Republican, but who went over to the Progressives in 1913, boots and breeches and is now where he should have been long years ago—in the Democratic party—posts the fight in prospect for the postoffice in his beloved city will be of the Kilkenny variety.

The "Old Guard" ship at St. Marys has Yockey Smith as its captain, Bruff Hamilton as first mate and Joe Markley second mate. Lawrence Brodbeck is the leader of the Progressive element and James Mustard and Curly Boyce are field aides. A "despotic" effort is to be made to wrest control of party affairs from Smith, Hamilton and Markley.

A. E. Schaffer of Wapakoneta is another Democratic postmaster whose second term is soon to expire and who will in all probability be succeeded by a Republican. The means another fight in Auglaize-co to give Congressman Cable a taste of nervous shakes. If Cable can shake off the bolts of Schaffer in Wapakoneta and Hunter in St. Marys until after the November election, he'll succeed in saving himself a peck of trouble in many votes in the county to the south. It is understood that "The" Hassenier is under the Wapakoneta postoffice plum tree with Hassenier as G. O. P. county chairman and first lieutenant to Charley Herbst, the accredited leader of the party in Auglaize.

He is a reactionary stand-patter and is likely to be opposed for re-appointment by a Progressive. If going to put Cable between the devil and the deep blue sea, political But John'll have to face the music and take what's meted out to him.

The biennial crop of candidate cards is sprouting in hotel lobbies, barber shops, restaurants, drug stores and elsewhere, on the walls, the most part are emblazoned with the likenesses of the aspirants seeking preferment at the hands of the electors.

There may have been at times in the past history of Allen-co many candidates for nomination as sheriff and representative as have appeared this time, but surely not more. The manner in which the candidates have set about the task of garnering votes would indicate that primary day is near rather than far off.

Contests are of such a spirited nature that many of the seekers already giving full time to the task of lining up the voters. Since a fringe has become a fact, the candidates have about twice as many voters to see as heretofore and it appears to be realizing that early tion means better results later.

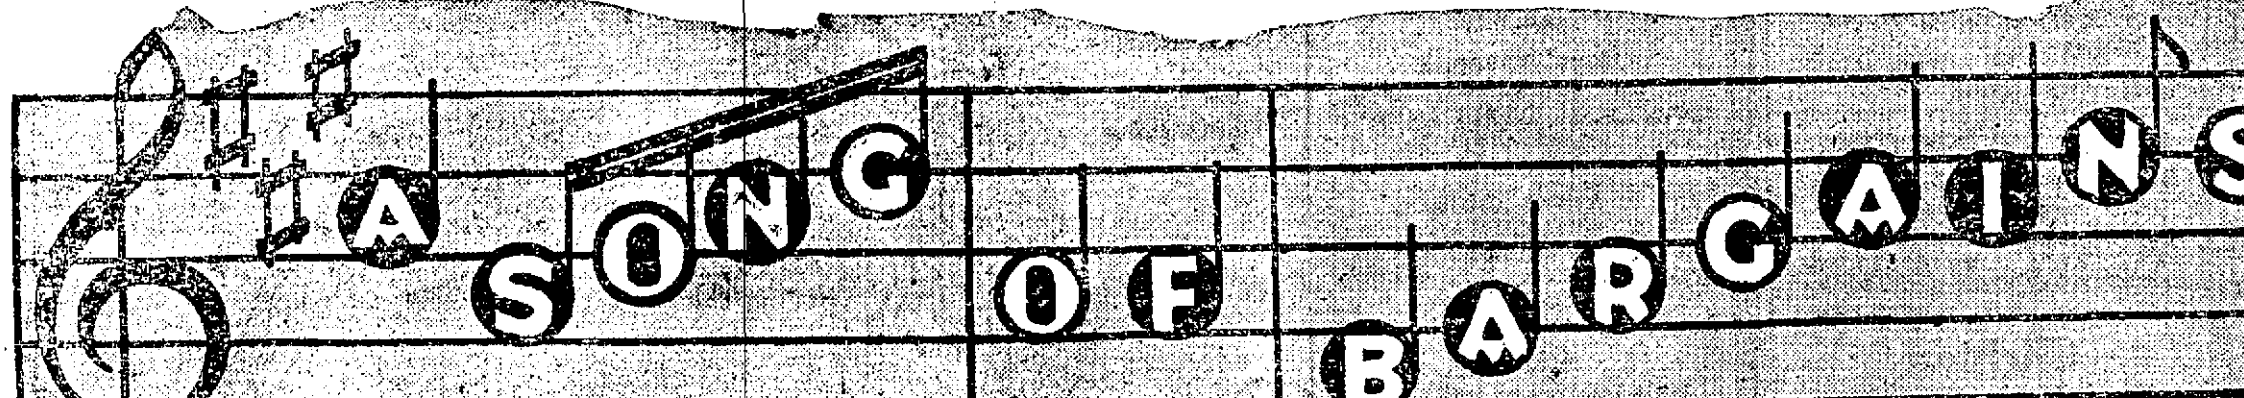

Consider the candidate, dear to treat him gently, aye even kinder. For he is a necessary factor in a scheme of government. You had the primary system wished you and now, instead of being lured by one candidate from each of the old parties for the fall election, you're camping on a yellow tail for the primary hitch. You'll get another dose of the medicine between August 8 and final ballot battle in November.

Don't expect the aspirants your ballot favor to hand you cigar, offer you a drink or candy for the kids. It's against law to do so. Neither must you endeavor to exact a promise of kind from a candidate. He is permitted to make promise of the stowal of anything of value to induce votes in his behalf.

This is the "open season" for candidates, but it is unlawful to stalk them, even the you may be staked. They are your fellow citizens, interested in the problem that are vexing you. Therefore, kind to them. They deserve a pathy. Anyone who has ever sought office will agree that they ought have your kindest consideration.

Marcus Makes Up Book on Chances of G. O. P. Men

THE LIMA NEWS BUREAU, Columbus, June 17

COLUMBUS (Special)—Now behold in the year A. D. 1922 a great pestilence encompassed the land round about and it was called Nomination.

"And behold the coal mines were closed and the factories were much in the lull."

"And behold the notices of sheriffs' sales were upon the farms of the land and employment was scarce and the business man knew not whither to turn his way."

"And the public treasury continued thru grievous taxes levied upon the people so that they complained."

"Wherefore many people said, 'Let us arise and be candidates for office where at least the pay is certain.'"

"And they straightway went and did so, in great numbers and for all places."

"And behold the number of candidates was legion."—Modern Chronicles, New Edition.

There is a pretty general assumption that the upward curve in the number of candidates bears a pretty close relationship to the existing economic conditions.

In a search for causes of the great outpouring of candidates in the primaries this year the most probable causes are those which lie nearest the surface.

These in turn are the general state of the country and the demand for services in the industrial, financial and agricultural activities.

In local communities the contests are more marked than in the state at large and all records will be broken by the number of names found to be printed on the ballots when primary time rolls round.

It was not so in former years, when many posts in the public employ actually went begging for want of aspirants.

The same story is told in the schools and in other public employments. There is a striving to secure attachments which will be permanent or which will last long enough to ride the tide of the period of depression.

It should make for the keenest competition and ought to make the "shopping" good for the employers the people, because quantity, at least, is offered them. They will know more later about the quality.

At all events there is much to be put over and inspected and the salesmen in the persons of managers and directors will be unusually courteous and obliging.

But while it is true that many names are offered, the lists contain much of the old-timer type, the perennial variety, repeatedly put before the voters and just as often ignored.

This is true in the state at large and equally true in many of the counties. From the names on file at the office of the Secretary of State there will immediately occur the cognomens of General Charles William Frederick Dick of Akron and John Jay Lentz of Columbus.

About the only thing that would nominate either of them would be the passing of this earth of all the other candidates and that does not seem likely to occur.

But they are on the ballots or will be and the motions of recording their names must be made and registered in Lentz's case.

At the Capital called his pronouncement in advance, saying it would be an attack upon Senator Alice Pomerene and just that it would be General Dick said little or nothing and his motives are more of a mystery than are those of Lentz who as late as June, 1921, made a little year ago, found himself rather a member of the "Hardy" party, membership now limited.

The type of offerings recently had the Cincinnati Enquirer and other newspapers to protest at the practice, but then it gives these representatives of a past generation a chance and it's fair for all. If the people want them as candidates, they are entitled to have them. That's sure.

With all the new blood injected into the primary contests it is remarkable that 27 of the 66 men who have offered themselves in the two party primaries are now holding office.

The only very conspicuous candidate who is not now on the payroll are Colonel Carmichael A. Thompson, Republican for Governor, and A. V. Donahay, Democrat for Governor and both of them have been so that they cannot claim to be strangers to the cashier's window.

The same condition prevails in counties and districts and new faces will have a hard time to crowd the old ones away from the window.

In some places, of which Hamilton is a notable example, the gang that moves them around from place to place, probably making the voters feel that they are getting a new deal when in truth and in fact they are getting up against the old court case about so that they will not know it.

That list of 27 payroll politicians is not to be forgotten is the name of Charles Landon Knight, of Akron, who is supposed to be a Congressman, but whose friends insist would not be counted upon the "progress" at all, because they say he has no record of service to be included without ever running across his name.

In the Republican primary for Governor it is becoming apparent that the big field represents two classes who are clearly interference makers, plainly put there for a purpose, righteous or otherwise.

The one candidates for Governor standing unconsciously, the lack of distinction there is in the party. The original plan as it came to Ohio from the White House was that Colonel Carmichael A. Thompson was to be nominated without opposition to the administration colors.

When Governor Harry A. Davis was promised to remain out of the game that was the plan back of the proposed New York conference of Maurice Maschke, Rud Hyppicka and the other bosses. But when the plan broke down there was a hunt for other candidates to fill up the lists and to make it certain that the field could be divided into pieces small enough to enable the administration bloc and the old standpatters to get away with it. The anti-administration forces originally wanted to center on Judge Smith, but the flood of candidates who were induced to get into the game have divided and subdivided the opponents of Thompson and Harding. The Anti-Saloon league, too, knew the strategy of dividing and conquering and there came as opponents of their own pet, James W. Durrell, Knight and Homer Durand, all of them listed as decidedly not in sympathy with prohibition.

Political bookmakers have their own estimates of the various candidates and a "book" made up today on the field of nine would read something like this:

Harvey C. Smith, one to two to win.

Charles L. Knight, one to three to win.

Harry Clay Smith, one to one hundred to win.

Arthur H. Day, one to 50 to win.

Daniel W. Williams, one to 20 to win.

Homer Durand, one to 10 to win.

James W. Durrell, one to one thousand to win.

Now this is not made for betting purposes, at least now, but it sizes up the beliefs and feelings of the public with respect to the situation.

Smith, Knight and Thompson are the three names to be kept to the fore with Thompson as the choice of Hyppicka, the Harding administration and the Ohio Anti-Saloon league. But the situation is in the making and goodness knows what will happen after a few rounds of firing.

Now that the Ohio Supreme court and its record are an issue in the campaign for Governor, it may be just as well to get a few Republican judges of the court, six of them, and factionalists have told many stories.

So it will not hurt if this old friend of the truth tells it. The story that Carrington T. Marshall had a raised dias or throne from which to survey the court as he presided over it, is an unmitigated falsehood.

This chronicler has taken the trouble to walk over to the court room to look. There is no such elevated place.

There was a change in the desk and it seems to have been due to Elmer T. Spear, whose desk was inherited by the constitutional chief justice was a man of diminutive stature.

His desk was low and his chair high and he fitted into the surroundings perfectly. It was usable too for the former Chief Justice, Hugh L. Nichols, who made no change.

But C. T. Marshall is a man of large stature and when he sat down he found that it cramped him to get his legs under the desk. He had blocks stuck under it to add to his comfort.

Now he might have had the legs of the chair sawed off, but he didn't and from that incident has come all the fantastic stories about a czar's throne that he was supposed to have installed.

And there you are. So far as this historian is concerned Judge Marshall and his faction starts a story that isn't true there will be equal promptness in setting the scenery right. There never has been any faith here in untrue stories. And that's that.

Something of the trend of the times is shown in the manifesto issued by Charles W. Shryock of Zanesville who yesterday to be State Senator again although it is a generation since "Shy's" voice was heard in the halls.

Like all the others he is for "lower taxes" and O. M. (old man) Economy, with no more "con" than the rest, and lower public utility rates, and cheaper roads and is against emergency laws to defeat the referendum.

And he is against the Ku Kluxers. And he also is this time the host not for the old-liners. "Vote your opinion at the August primary and follow the lead of the Republicans of Pennsylvania, Iowa and Indiana." Shryock has often been called a "kicker" and he sort of feels that this may be an asset this year when the temper of the suffering voters is somewhat aroused and they are inclined to "kick" red, as they reflect upon the doling at Washington and Columbus.

From Steubenville, where home brewing has been officially legalized.

ized by the city authorities and is halted only by the ubiquitous outside constables and raiding officers who "soak" the natives for the benefit of the suburban treasuries and their own pockets, comes this offering laid at the feet of the muses:

"Thirty days hath September, April, June and November. All the rest are thirty, too, Unless you make Your own home brew."

The ode might be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies to Homer Durand, of Coshocton, the sweet singer of his church choir and the candidate of the liberty-loving or luberty-loving folks of Ohio. It could be the Durand song to match that immortal slogan, "United we stagger, divided we fall."

To the horrors of hot weather and perhaps the toughest primary campaign during which the state has ever known, individual voter will be hectored at least 270 times is now to be added the joint debate. Both parties are full of these challenges. Speaker Rupert R. Beetham wanted his opponents to furnish crowds for him in the primary canvass for Governor on the Republican side and was ignored for his pains. Now comes Robert J. Beatty and wants to debate the merits of the cause of H. Sage Valentine of Columbus as a Congressional nominee. Vigilance committees soon make this matter in hand John Jay Lentz will of course challenge Senator Alice Pomerene just as he challenged Timothy S. Hogan in another year and will insist on "holering around" if Mr. Pomerene graciously declines the invitation. Really, fellows, something must be done. The rich can run away to the mountains or the seashore. But what are we to do?

Now that all the filing of candidacies is over for the coming primary, the proper course for the conventional candidate has at last been determined. Getting up a proper list of sponsors has troubled many candidates, but a frazzled old veteran here gave the formula that all the names were in. The correct petition should contain, he said, for a Republican candidate, a Ku Klux Klanner, a "Gardeen" of liberty, a labor man, a farmer, a colored man, or one supposed to be a capitalist, and not one but two women, one blonde and one brunette. Amendments to include one matron and one flapper were rejected as not pertinent. This assortment will appeal to all elements.

Ohio, after all, is not to lose the services of Dr. H. H. Goddard, famed as the great state expert on abnormal psychology. He is to be taken up by Ohio State university as a professor where, presumably, he will be free from taunting politicians. Dr. Goddard was not rated as a good administrator, being a scientist but the fact that three men are to be appointed to succeed him does not speak so badly of his efforts in running the Ohio Bureau of Juvenile Research. Dr. Goddard has a mission and in the scholastic air he should be free to develop the talents he has and to educate the state to the necessity of keeping stupid political interference from really fundamental research work. Moreover, he may succeed in impressing the fact that real information should be obtained about persons accused of crime and persons confined in penal institutions. Dr. Goddard is a teacher and in the university should find a congenial atmosphere. At a later time, perhaps, the bureau, torn down by the legislative politicians of the Davis regime, may be restored.

It's a woman's right to change her mind. So Miss Florence Allen, of Cleveland, now judge of the Common Pleas court of Cuyahoga county, translate herself from rockiness to Democracy to independence, if she wants to. She had endorsed the candidacy of Stephen M. Young, of Cleveland, for Attorney General before she took her plunge into the independent pool to become a candidate for Supreme Court judge. As a woman's candidate she may or may not go far, probably not very far. Candidates based upon sex have thus far not fared very well, even with the female voters. They generally have too much sense for that. If there is any attempt to turn party support on the ground of past affiliations, it ought to be made clear now that the two gentlemen who will be nominated by the Democrats have no desire to be victimized by a third party candidate to split their vote. Doubtless they will be heard from upon this score.

When Vice President Calvin Coolidge gained for himself a little flicker of fame by endorsing the work of the League of Nations, a great fuss was made by the eastern newspapers, which with League leanings there are others. Only very recently, Judge Harvey C. Smith found himself able to say that Woodrow Wilson was the great exponent of world peace and deserved much of the credit for the hold that the idea has upon the imagination of the world. No other candidate has gone so far. Comparatively C. L. Knight has had no better but Judge A. Thompson could only describe him by saying he is a former President, too sick to work. Judge Smith does present one variation from Harding Republicanism, if only a little. The others present none.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN THE SKIN

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate. —Adv.

In the Republican primary for Governor it is becoming apparent that the big field represents two classes who are clearly interference makers, plainly put there for a purpose, righteous or otherwise.

The one candidates for Governor standing unconsciously, the lack of distinction there is in the party. The original plan as it came to Ohio from the White House was that Colonel Carmichael A. Thompson was to be nominated without opposition to the administration colors.

CHILD ASKS FOR PLAYGROUND

Sends Plan to Officials Suggesting Improvement.

PUPIL IN THIRD GRADE

David Fullerton Wants Old Lot Cleaned Up.

Children of Lima are as much interested in the welfare of Lima and its playgrounds system as its elders, who are supporting it. If a letter received by the association is to be taken as a criterion.

The letter is from David Fullerton, a pupil of the third grade in the Franklin school. David has thought out a plan for a new playground which he suggests to the association. His letter says:

"I have thought of a plan that would make a certain district of Lima a better-looking place. This place is back of the corner building at Market and S. Baxter sts. From twelve to twenty children will be benefited by such a plan.

'WRETCHED PLACE'

The lot is a wretched place now—empty, for bottles, bricks, weeds and everything imaginable may be found there.

"My plan is to clear this lot and to make a playground of it and to have a district from McDonel to Colletts if a child would attempt to go in there barefoot now with all that glass on the ground, he would come out with bad feet.

"But with a slide, a few swings and a sand-pile, it would provide a valuable place for all the kiddies. We could play ball there, too. If you will consider my letter, I will be very grateful."

Mrs. John W. Roby, 939 W. Market, chairman of the recreational department of the Child Welfare association, is making a special appeal for funds that the lot may be cleared and the children be given the playground which they seek.

WANTS DONATIONS

All money sent to Mrs. Roby will be especially used for this purpose. Amounts from ten cents up will be gratefully received, Mrs. Roby says.

It is the hope of the association to begin work on the lot so that it may open at the time or not far distant from the opening of other playgrounds, operated by the association and the board of education of the city.

PLAN LAWN FETE

St. Gerard's Preparing for Annual Outdoor Event.

St. Gerard's Catholic parish, Robb and Elizabeth sts., has launched preliminary plans for the annual lawn fete, which will be held Wednesday afternoon and evening, June 21, on the grounds surrounding the parish residence.

Rev. Father James Clark, pastor of St. Gerard's church, is now arranging for the entertainment, which will be a feature of the gathering. A musical program of interest will be given.

There will be various booths on the grounds for the sale of hot rubber toys, cooling drinks and delicacies. Ice cream and cake will be on sale from early afternoon until the sociable closes at night.

Proceeds will be devoted to work of the parish, Rev. Father Clark announces.

IN WILL OF WENDLER

Mrs. Margaret Hinkledine Wendler, 61, was named as executrix of the estate of her husband William P. Wendler, 719 E. North-st., who died on May 16, by Judge J. H. Hamilton in probate court Saturday. The appointment was made under the terms of the will, which named Mrs. Wendler, Augusta Hinkledine, Mrs. N. Baxter, and Mary Binkley as legatees by law.

LIPPINCOTT SPEAKER AT FIRST FORTNIGHTLY MOOSE SOCIAL SESSION

Eugene T. Lippincott, attorney, will be the principal speaker at the initial fortnightly Moose social session to be held in the Moose Temple, Thursday, June 28, at 8 p. m. W. C. Hovey, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced Saturday.

He will tell of the pilgrimage to Mooseheart made by some 300 lodge members and guests by special train a month ago.

The gathering is for the benefit of members of the lodge and their families. It is to be the first of a series of social affairs to be held twice each month during the summer, at the lodge temple.

Music and entertainment will be features, and refreshments will be served.

NEMO PRAISES OUR OWN KOMMISH

Bouquets for Jack, Dressed in Thorns, Cleverly Done

Nemo, describing him or herself as aged 22, with fair complexion, height five feet, six inches, residence Market-st west, but failing to state whether single or happily wed, writes the following interesting bit of praise and criticism to The News staff writer, Oh. Oh. Jackenrim: Lima, Ohio, June 17, 1922.

My Dear Mr. Jackenrim: Let me state that this is not that most cowardly act—the anonymous letter, that I have not signed my name because this is written in a spirit of friendly criticism which you are under no obligations to print unless you see fit.

In the first place, I admire your column immensely. It is very clever, witty and shows a finesse more in keeping with metropolitan journalism. Ahem!

But unlike your worthy predecessor, the incomparable McIntyre, you cannot refrain from injecting politics into your goulash, altho admitting that an Ohio city without politics would be as barren as the Sahara without sand.

It is easy to understand why the newspaper with which you are affiliated should be opposed to our present form of government. It doesn't furnish the political copy that old blood and thunder days were replete with and furthermore cuts off considerable revenue derived from political advertisements and sundry charges and denials at so much per charge and denials that features former mayoralty races. Altho I'm sure the latter would have nothing to do with your opinions as your newspaper has always been noted for its civic pride as witness the "Crime Wave" which it so industriously propagated some time ago.

But Jack you have shown time and again that the mistakes made in these days of decadent journalism—Another ahem—have happily passed you by, so it is with deep regret and sorrow that I see you showing inclinations of adopting your newspaper's opinions concerning Bingham's et al.

Now Jack, you said apropos of increased taxes that you wonder how the old regime got along without taxing everybody but the tax collector. May I not, in the immortal words of the departed Woodrow R. I. P., inform you how they 'got along'. Their budget was something like $350,000 and they expended $475,000, leaving a deficit of, as you can readily see $125,000. That's how they got along, Jack.

Now, the new regime is opposed to deficits and in order to overcome them I suppose must use taxes, so that you are slightly unfair 'old top' when you say that it's a matter for the people to vote on next November. Also it would be a whole lot better if instead of steadily knocking you would occasionally boost a form of government which is striving to bring order out of chaos, especially in these days of general discontent when everyone is 'agin the government' on general principles.

And remember Jack, that whatever the new regime does, it's bound to be an improvement over what the old one did. And I'm sure you wouldn't wish our fair city to be placed again under the beneficent rule of political mayors and warring police chiefs. Why not put the pen to the wheel as it were and help along a worthy cause—A bigger and better Lima.

Sincerely yours Jack. Nemo.

OHIO ROAD WORK MAKES HEADWAY

Reports Indicate Rapid Improvement of Highways.

THRU ROUTES SERVICEABLE

Dixie Route in Allen-co Shows Little Change.

Road work in all portions of Ohio was under good headway, the weekly report of the Ohio State Auto association received by the Lima Auto Club, announced. The route between principal cities of the state continue to be serviceable, the report says. In the southwest part of the state considerable new construction has started.

Recent reports from the state highway department indicate the necessity of completing the Sandusky, Columbus road this year. Practically all of the projects necessary for this are under way according to the motor organization's report.

STATE OF LINCOLN WAY

West of Galloway and Bucyrus, the Lincoln Highway alternates good and fair road to the Indiana line. Beyond there are sections of paved road put in during past years.

The Dixie Highway thru Allen and Argos co's continues in much the same shape as in previous reports. Practically the entire section from Bluffton to Butkins, in Shelby co is to be paved this year.

For this reason little maintenance is being placed on the main route. Funds for all but one section in Allen-co have been let, and the remaining section immediately south of Bluffton is ready for letting. Contractors are at work on several sections.

A detour thru Argos co and the southern part of Allen co from Butkins to Lima is necessary according to the report. North of Bluffton there is an excellent pavement thru Toledo to Detroit.

WELL IS REPORTED

Claim Discovery of 100 Barrel Producer in Hancock co.

A 100 barrel oil well has been brought in by the Bath-oil Co., in the Hancock field, officials of the company announced Saturday. This is one of the largest wells which has been brought in by any company in this district for a number of years. It has been pumping at this rate since it was shot, officials declared.

Six other wells are being pumped by this company at the present time. It also has control of a large tract of land property in Hancock co and in the Bath-oil and Slabtown fields in Allen co.

LIMA MEN OFF TO ATTEND CHICAGO MOTOR MEETING

Lima motorists will take an active part in the organization of the American Motorists association, which is to hold its initial meeting in Chicago during the coming week. Joe C. Hardline, president of the Lima Auto Club, James I. Heffner, and Joe T. Kaufman, will be delegates to the convention from Lima.

The new organization is calculated to replace the old American Automobile association, which it is claimed has ceased to function as beneficial organization for car owners.

Hardline, as delegate to the recent St. Louis convention was among those from Ohio and other states that bolted the meeting, and planned the organization of a new body to look after motoring interests in the country.

GUARDIAN APPOINTED FOR YOUTH INJURED AT B. & O.

In order that settlement might be made by the B. & O. railroad to compensate Marlon K. Risor, 17, who was injured in the company shops February 14, Ora B. Risor, was named guardian of the boy, by Judge J. H. Hamilton in probate court Saturday.

Settlement of a judgment of the sum of $195 was made by the railroad company in full for all claims. Young Risor was injured by a falling car jack which struck his left foot on the hip and crushed the bones.

PASTORS TO TALK TO CIVIC CLUBS

Rotary, Kiwanis to Hear Preachers; Lions Honor Another.

This will be "sky pilot week" among the Lima civic clubs. The Rotary and Kiwanis club will be addressed by ministers and the Lions will honor another in a picnic.

Rev. Time Clark, pastor of St. Girard's Catholic church and head of the Catholic mission here will address the Rotary club, Monday noon, at the Hotel Norval. His subject will be "Manhood."

Members of the Kiwanis club will listen to an address by Rev. G. M. Baumgardner, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, at their luncheon Tuesday noon at the Hotel Argonne.

A firework reception for Rev. Kyle Booth will be staged by the Lions at McBeth's park Wednesday evening. Members will meet at the park at 4:30 p. m. and supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. Hugh Burke will be in charge of the supper.

Following the supper there will be speeches by Rev. Booth and other members of the Lions club. Games, sports, music and dancing will follow the supper.

DODGE BROTHERS BRING OUT THE FIRST ALL STEEL ENCLOSED AUTOMOBILE BODY

NEW DESIGNS IN DODGE CARS

Closed Car For Business Man Is Distinct Achievement

LOWER COST IS EFFECTIVE

Reduction in Price of all Dodge Cars is Sensation

Behind the simple phraseology of an announcement which Dodge Brothers, Detroit automobile manufacturers, are publishing today in every important city and town in America, lies the story of a new achievement in automobile development. "Dodge Brothers announce a business coupe; conservative changes in the body design of all other types," the advertisement reads.

The business coupe is the first all-steel closed car ever marketed. In this respect it takes a new and distinct place in automotive history, for it involves an entirely unique principle of coupe body construction. The steel body not only practically eliminates the problem of rusted production, due to the tedious and costly individual workmanship required on wood bodies, but also enables the manufacturers to give the coupe the same lustrous painted enamel finish which has already contributed so much to the reputation of Dodge Brothers open cars. This process in itself will also facilitate quantity production, as an enormous amount of time was consumed heretofore in applying the numerous coats of paint required on wood.

Naturally these are important factors in the determination of the selling price, resulting in economies which Dodge Brothers are passing directly to the purchaser. "Wood is practically eliminated from the construction of this car," said Mr. Millikan, of the D. D. Jones Co., the "even the framework and panels are of steel, and the natural result is a lighter, quieter and more durable car. Steel prolongs life and reduces the possibility of squeaks and rattles."

The business men of America have been expecting such a coupe and Dodge Brothers have given it to them.

"It is in reality a coupe at a roadster price. While it is easily attractive enough for any use, it is particularly designed for the business man—who needs the comfort and protection of a closed car in his work, but who can easily get along without a few of the luxuries which in the past have made the closed car so expensive. The business coupe is built inside and out to stand the wear and tear of every day use—and yet it retains the same lightness and beauty of line which everyone is accustomed to look for in Dodge Brothers closed cars. It lacks only what might term the depreciation liabilities of the more expensive coupe. It is upholstered in genuine leather, has a wide, comfortable straight seat, is equipped with cord tires, heater, dome light, windshield cleaner and adjustments for raising and lowering windows. The doors are unusually wide and are fitted with new easy closing Yale locks. There is more than the usual amount of leg room and convenient and spacious luggage compartments are provided. Doctors, real estate men and salesmen of all kinds will find it just the car they need. We already have good indications of a tremendous demand."

The change of design in the other Dodge Brothers cars indicates that while Dodge Brothers have always adhered closely to the practical they are also progressive and abreast of the time. It is Dodge Brothers policy to make improvements year after year and month after month and this is simply another example of their progress.

HOW A FAMOUS RACE HORSE TRAVELS

MAN O' WAR AND HIS PRIVATE CAR—A GARFORD TRUCK

When "Man O' War," the wonder horse of the age, travels, he rides in a specially built Garford truck body. It is well padded with a rear enclosure, which when lowered provides a runway for loading and unloading.

Miss Elizabeth Daingerfield, owner of Daingerfield Hylands where Man O' War was raised, and who is a breeder of expensive racing stock, chose the Garford because it filled the requirements of a truck necessary for such work, namely, easy riding qualities and dependability. Due to the nervous and excitable condition of horses of this type the transportation must be made with least possible time on the road and the utmost of comfort.

Man O' War has been beaten but once in his career and then as a two year old. His total winnings in three years of racing totals $262,000.00. In 1920 he won $166,140. Holds Belmont Park, N. Y., track records for one and three-eighths, one and a half and one and five-eighths miles. Holds Havre de Grace, Md., track record for one and one-sixteenth miles; Kenilworth Park, Windsor, Canada, track record for one and a quarter miles. He is owned by Samuel D. Biddle of Philadelphia.

Feeling the earth shiver under foot, even created a certain amount of alarm among the neighbors.

Mr. Earl, appealed to, acceded to the unusual request, the more easily because the big plant has established something like balance among the various production departments and the daily procession of Earls is coming thru without hitch. The steam hammers, therefore, "knock off" now between 11 p. m. and 7 a. m.

Of course you like romance! Breathe deeply of it by reading "Scaramouche" starting in The Lima News, Monday, June 19.

TESTING METALS IN NASH CARS

Most Thoro Process of Manufacture Adhered to

It is frequently asked by automobile owners why one make of car possesses endurance to a point where its life is far longer perhaps than other cars of similar wheel-base and type. The answer best known to those most familiar with manufacturing practices, lies very largely in the matter of quality of materials that go into an automobile.

"Because it manufactures more of its car than does any other maker in America, The Nash Motors Company is in a position to absolutely govern the quality," according to Manager McKibben of the Lima Nash Co. With an immense foundry, forge shop, heat-treating department, it is dependent upon no outside facilities for the quality of metals used in the important parts of the car. While, for instance, it is the practice of some motor manufacturers to use grey iron in cylinder blocks, Nash Motors employs an iron that contains chrome and nickel.

"The grain structure in this Nash iron is very close and much less porous than in ordinary grey iron. Porous iron tends itself readily to distortion, whereas this is eliminated in Nash cylinder irons. In the manufacture of this iron, control of a great number of conditions is exercised to bring about perfect castings. At the very outset precautions are taken with the raw material delivered at the plant.

"Before any of this iron is passed on to the foundry, tests are made of samples in the Nash laboratories. It is made certain that the chemical components of the iron are correct. The material is then sent to the foundry, where the metal is melted in the cupola and in hot liquid form poured into moulds.

"The degree of hardness in metal regulates the wear on cylinder blocks. A favorable relationship in the relative hardness of the cylinder block, piston, piston rings, and cylinder is brought about thru the skillful mixture of metals and positive tests. This means longer life to the motor. Laboratory tests also determine the strength of cast iron and determine its uniformity.

"Nash Motors, because of its facilities for manufacture, is making cylinder iron of considerably higher Brinell hardness than can be secured in an ordinary grey iron casting."

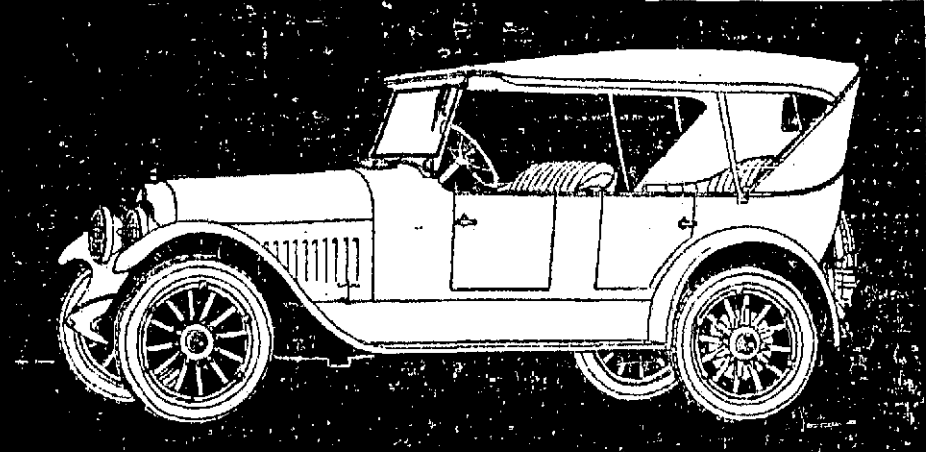

STUDEBAKER builds more six-cylinder cars than any other manufacturer because Studebaker builds them better. We can show you 84 definite points of superiority in the Special-Six over Studebaker's nearest competitor.

In times of close competition, merit wins. Today competition in automobiles is keener than it ever was, because people are buying more carefully than ever. Studebaker increased its sales 29% in 1921, though the industry, as a whole, showed a falling off of nearly 45%. 1922, up to May 1st, shows a gain in Studebaker production of 143% over the same period of 1921.

Studebaker sales records tell their own story. The buying public has declared for Studebaker superiority.

The Master of the Highway Has Earned the Respect of its Owners

The test of any manufactured product is its ability to make and keep friends. No motor car can be truly great until its owners stand solidly behind it with one undivided opinion—one expression of Confidence, Respect and Loyalty. On this basis the Paige 6-66 has indeed achieved true greatness. Its owners are a unit in endorsement. Talk to one of them—or one hundred of them—and you will encounter an active pride of ownership that is finally convincing.

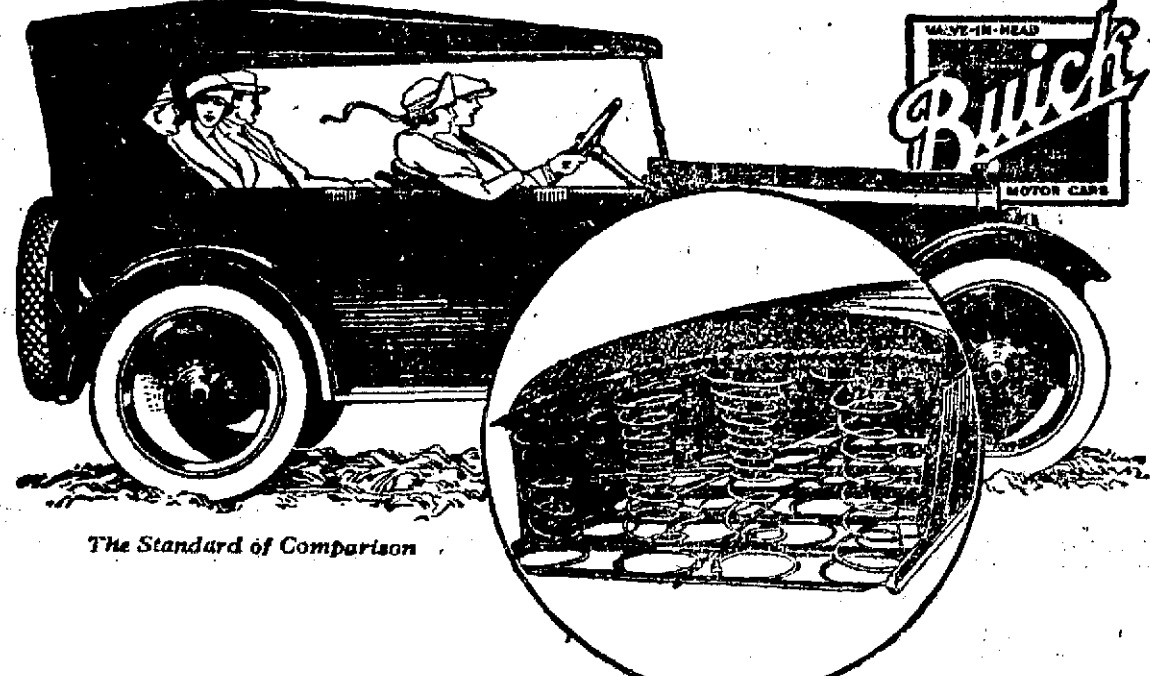

They are proud of this car because it is the most distinctively beautiful creation in the entire field of motor vehicles. They respect it because it possesses the spirit of the thoroughbred—a spirit that has won track honors and hill climbing records at 100 points in the nation. They believe in the 6-66 because it has fulfilled every expectation of its giant power plant and superbly designed chassis. And they drive it with the serene confidence and perfect control of a Master of the Highway.

Why Buick Cushions "Ride Easy"

Buick cushions are comfortable on all roads because of their "double-deck" springs and resilient hair pads. The upper springs, which are light and easy-acting, yield to the slightest road irregularity. The lower springs are larger and stiffer. They come into play on rough country roads, carrying the passenger in comfort over bumps which cause the ordinary seat to "strike bottom".

SPENCERVILLE TO STAGE UNIQUE AUTOMOBILE SHOW THURSDAY, JUNE TWENTY-SECOND

LIMA DEALERS TO EXHIBIT

Pleasure Cars, Tractors and Trucks on Display

ADMISSION WILL BE FREE

Event Will be in Form of Celebration by The Journal

Thursday, June 22nd will be a big day in Spencerville for on this day the Spencerville Journal will celebrate its 42nd anniversary with a mammoth automobile show.

The show, one of the most unique ever held in the United States, is attracting state-wide attention. Entries for the event closed the first of the week when it was found that the block was filled, and that every square foot of display space was taken.

The show will be absolutely free to all. The program of the big day will be used by the automobile men in demonstrating the cars. Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, the new cars, tractors, trucks, etc., will be placed in their respective positions, and from that time until 1 o'clock in the evening, the display will be open to the public.

A hundred out-of-town dealers and managers will be present to show the different features of the various displays. There will be favors attractions of many kinds.

In one of the booths will be a radio apparatus. Besides the radio concerns from the principal cities the market reports and the base ball score will be taken from the air.

In the evening the Lima City band of sixteen pieces with singers will present a three-hour program at the show. Members of the Lima Auto Club will attend in a body and the great strides that the automobile manufacturers have made in the past ten years will be explained.

The paper's unique celebration now promises to be the biggest day in the history of the little city, and one and all are invited to attend. There will be parking accommodations and the city of Spencerville will be turned over for 24 hours to the visitors.

GOODYEAR MAKES BIG RECORD

Produces 45,000,000th Tire This Week at Akron

Amid impressive ceremonies, The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. this week produced its 45,000,000th tire. This total production, said to be larger than that of any other company in the world, was accomplished within a period of 22 years and marks an important milestone in American industry.

F. W. Litchfield, vice president and factory manager of the company, who supervised the building of the first Goodyear auto tire in 1906, laid down the first ply on the 45,000,000th tire.

The 45,000,000th tire will be exhibited in the 82 branches over the country and then deposited in the company's museum.

This figure includes pneumatic tires only, no solid tires being counted and all bicycle tires being excluded.

If the 45,000,000 tires were set up one in front of the other, taking a 33x4 as an average size, they would make a wall of tires that would stretch completely around the world at the equator.

If they were rolled out of the company's shipping room, one immediately after another, and started down street at the rate of 30 miles an hour, it would take the procession 32 days and nights to pass a given point.

Laid flat on the ground and piled one on top of another they would make a pile 15,000,000 feet high.

The tires would fill 45,000 average size freight cars, and make up a train excluding engines, tenders and cabooses that would extend unbroken from Akron to Chicago, a distance of 340 miles.

Denver camp grounds housed 39,854 tourists from United States, Canada, Mexico and Hawaii last year.

SPECIAL BUICK 6-55 SPORT - TOURING

The above picture is an exact reproduction of the new Buick Special 6-55 Sport-touring. It is finished this special model its tailored appearance. Nominally four passengers are accommodated in the roomy body but five can ride.

LOOK OVER YOUR BATTERY

Electrical System Should be Inspected Before a Tour

Before you get too far into the job of looking up, picking out hotels, and deciding which points of interest to visit, it might be well to take a few minutes to look over the electrical system of your car, and assure yourself that everything is ship-shape and ready to do its part toward making your tour a success.

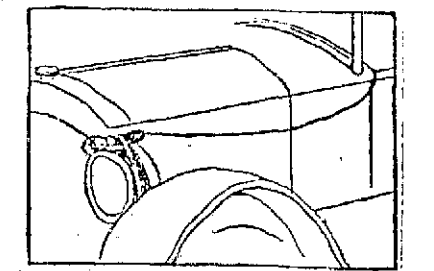

Loose connections may mean that the battery does not receive the proper supply of current from the generator, or that it is not able to deliver it properly when wanted. Nuts and screws that hold the connections in place should be clean and should be screwed tight, so that there is no possibility of their working loose either thru jarring of the car on the road, or the swaying of the wires themselves.

Begin with the battery and follow each one of the cables thru the switches, assuring yourself of every connection as you go along. If this job is done thoroughly you will have no reason to worry about loose connections. At the same time make sure that there are no short circuits caused by the wearing thru of insulation or by the bits of wire that sometimes drop in where they do not belong.

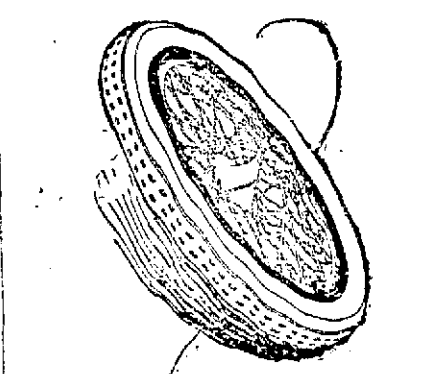

So much for the wiring, but at the same time it is a good thing to have the starting, lighting and ignition units, and the storage battery looked at by the Service stations specializing in these parts. No matter where you may live it is possible to find a conveniently located Willard Service Station which will test the solution in your battery, and will at the same time notify you of any unsatisfactory condition that may exist.

WOMAN DRIVER SETS RECORD

Beats Express Train From San Francisco to Portland

Proving that a woman, equipped with the right car, is as good as fast cross-country driving as a man, Mrs. Z. Kathleen Ayers of San Francisco, drove a 1922 Buick Four Coupe from San Francisco to Portland, Ore., in 22 hours and 43 minutes, beating the best express train time by some six hours. This record, which is official, also beats the best previous running time of automobiles between the two cities by three hours and 8 minutes.

Mrs. Ayers, who is one of the best-known women drivers in California, was accompanied by an official detailed by the Howard Automobile Co. They were checked out of San Francisco one day at 1:02 p. m. and checked into Portland the next day at 11:45 p. m.

The only stops on the trip, which took them over three mountain ranges and all kinds of roads, were for gas and oil. Mrs. Ayers expressed her satisfaction over the behavior of the Buick Coupe which reached its destination in perfect condition.

Use only distilled water for the battery.

ESSEX COACH IS SUCCESS

New Body Type is Made Popular by Hudson-Essex Co.

The great popularity of the coach type of automobile body has led to the adoption of the name by builders of airplane and motor boat bodies as well. Airplane and motor boat bodies bearing this name are just beginning to make their appearance on the Pacific Coast, where trials have shown that they are proving as feasible as their builders predicted.

Essex Motors pioneered in this type of body. It first introduced its coach model in November, 1921. The instantaneous success of this type—it far surpassed anything its designers had contemplated—led the Hudson Motor Car company, its parent concern, to adopt it soon after as one of its standard models. The Hudson and Essex coaches have been heavy selling models right from the start, and this demand has remained constant right up to the present day, according to D. M. Clevenger, of the Bliss Auto Sales Co., local Hudson-Essex dealer, and can be expected to become an even greater proportion of the companies' total business during the fall and winter seasons, he predicts.

"There is a roadability in this type of construction," says Mr. Clevenger, "that is not enjoyed in the heavier closed cars, which, together with the unusually attractive prices at which they are being offered insure their continued popularity with the public."

"For love of a woman and to avenge a friend," this was the cry in the soul of "Saramouche," a man's man and a woman's hero. Story starts in The Lima News June 19.

SETS NEW RECORD IN CLIMB

Studebaker Light Six First Car to Reach Tillsbury Knob.

A Studebaker Light-Six has just added new laurels to its many records for power and endurance, by being the first car ever to reach the summit of Tillsbury Knob, near Nanticoke, Pa.

For years the residents of Nanticoke and vicinity have looked toward Tillsbury Knob, one of the highest mountains in Luzerne-co., convinced that its heights could never be scaled by any vehicle, either motor or horse-drawn.

The car that finally succeeded was driven by J. Williams of Nanticoke, and the feat proved a test not only of the sturdiness of the car but also the ability of the driver. The ascent was made over a mere foot path, for no road leads to the summit. Boulders, undergrowth and even trees furnished obstacles in climbing this mountain of shale and rock, but the car maneuvered its way upward until the summit was reached.

As an indication of the sharp grades encountered during the ascent, the mountain rises to a height of 700 feet in the course of the one-mile trip from base to summit. The Light-Six which made this unprecedented climb under its own power had previously been driven over 30,000 miles and still retained the original front tires that came with the car.

Mr. Williams started up the mountain with an ordinary pair of automobile tire chains on the rear wheels, but the rough stones and boulders soon broke them to pieces and a set of heavy half-inch chains had to be attached.

On reaching the summit of the mountain, the car reposed there for a week. The headlights were turned on each night and the record-making Light-Six could be seen for miles around. At the end of a week, the job of driving down the mountain was tackled, and proved almost thrilling and difficult as the ascent.

Forty Acres of Faith and Works

If I could have my wish, every man and woman who is thinking of buying a motor car would spend a day in Jackson seeing how the Earl is manufactured in our three great plants.

The more you know about high-grade materials and production methods, the more clearly you would see where the Earl gets the endurance, economy, beauty and flexible power which put it in a quality class apart from its price range.

From the huge hammers forging crank shafts and forty other units out of five kinds of white-hot steel—through acres of automatic machines—to the paint shop with its sixteen finishing operations—your factory tour would impress Earl quality and craftsmanship on you at every step.

Backing up the car's striking beauty, astonishing road performance and economy—360 miles of mountain roads on 12 gallons of gasoline in the recent Los Angeles-Yosemite A.A.A. run—this built-in quality and durability are responsible for the enthusiasm of Earl owners and the overwhelming demand which keeps the factory working three shifts of men in many departments.

The Earl is on display in your city. If you can't come to Jackson, go in and size it up. Ride in it. Take the wheel yourself. I know it is the kind of motor car you can afford to own and drive.

FOREIGN OUTPUT OF FORDS

Copenhagen, Denmark, Plant Shows Fine Increase

Production of the Foreign Plants of the Ford Motor Company for the fourth month of the year continues practically at the same rate which was set in March at the Copenhagen, Denmark, plant being the only foreign organization to show an increased output.

Manchester, England, turned out 1,015 cars and trucks, Buenos Aires, South America, built close to 1,000 cars and trucks; Copenhagen, 824, Sao Paulo, Brazil, 154; Bordeaux, 609 and Cadiz, Spain, 305 cars and trucks. Cork production of tractors was smaller than the previous month, due to difficulties arising there, which have now apparently been overcome.

Compared with the fourth month of last year the Foreign Plant production is considerably greater this year. The Manchester, England, production for April of this year is practically equal to the rate of output for July, 1921. The Buenos Aires business last month was nearly three times as great as it was for April, 1921. With the possible exception of one branch, the same may be applied to Copenhagen, Bordeaux, Sao Paulo and Cadiz, with the latter plant showing the greatest gain.

This improved foreign situation is arousing an optimistic viewpoint as to the automotive outlook in foreign countries.

BIG MARKET FOR USED CARS

Phenomenal Growth of Lima Used Car Exchange

The rapid growth of the Lima Used Car Exchange is one of the phenomenal features of the Ohio used car market.

Organized not many weeks ago by O. J. Archer, this concern has grown to be one of the largest concerns of its kind in the middle west.

Nearly every make of car on the market today is to be found at the Lima Exchange.

"Every car that has been driven after a sale is a 'used car,'" said Mr. Archer. "Some used cars have gone only a few miles, some a few hundred miles, some several thousand, and we price them according to their condition. We believe we have better values than you will be able to find in any other city in the country."

"Our market for securing used cars covers an immense territory. This enables us to get some very exceptional values for our patrons."

Mr. Chapman, who was formerly connected with the Tappan Electric Co., well known in Lima automotive circles, has recently become a member of the Lima Used Car Exchange's sales staff.

In the past few years the used car business has come to be one of the most remarkable expansion and really great in its financial and industrial scope.

The batting averages of the Lima Independents, compiled from the results of 9 games played this season, show that George Pohlable is still going strong as the leading batsman among the eight regulars, closely followed by "Chuck" Nichols, who is hitting .360.

"Ned" McMillen has a higher average, having hit for .424 in 26 attempts at bat, but the Mansfield boy is no longer regarded a factor in local games because of a broken ankle which will in all probability keep him out for the remainder of the season.

Bill Galbraith and Koontz bolstered the batting column, as each are hitting over .300 mark.

The showing by Pohlable is received with an "I told you so" air by many fans. They always contended George would one day round into as good a hitter as a fielder and thrower and their faith is now beginning to be justified. Never before has he looked better at material for fast company.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wemmer and Family to Tour Europe During Coming Months; Renz Family Will Visit Friends in Germany

(BY ROSEMARY CHRISTEN.)

TORRID heat, which has been prevailing during the past several weeks, has succeeded in sending many Lima residents scurrying to the country and seashore, while a number of those who had intended to remain in town until a later date have hurriedly prepared for earlier departure.

A summer enjoyed at the seashore or even a few weeks of respite from the endless duties and obligations at home is delightful and most interesting, but perhaps nothing is more interesting than a summer spent abroad. Already quite a few Lima people have departed for Europe and during the coming few weeks a number of others will sail.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wemmer and sons, William Wemmer, Jr., and Herman Keiser will leave during the week for Europe, where they will travel extensively for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob F. Renz leave Sunday for New York and on Wednesday will sail on the York for a trip abroad. They will visit with relatives in Germany and will also travel thru other countries, returning home about the middle of October.

Miss Helen Longworth leaves Sunday for New York. She will be accompanied by Miss Catherine Stout of Dayton and on Wednesday both will sail for Europe for a two months' tour.

Mrs. John F. Cover will sail Wednesday for Berlin, Germany for an extended stay with her daughter, Mrs. Victor Arbogast (Elsie Cover.)

Miss Edna Neely Rogers, of S. Williams-st., will be entertained with an attractive dinner party at the Shawnee Country club Saturday evening honoring Mrs. Harry L. Gay, who leaves soon for her future home in Cincinnati.

Honoring Miss Lura Mae Gallasie, bride-elect of Robert Haas, of Greensburg, Ind., and Miss Charlene Steber, bride-elect of R. Kenneth Kerr, of Wilmington, Mrs. Ralph Sweeney will entertain with a 11 o'clock bridge, Monday morning in Cincinnati.

Missionary society of Market Street Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. J. E. Grosjean, of 121 N. McDonel-st., Wednesday, at 2:30 p. m. The following program will be given. Song by the society, devotionals, Mrs. H. C. Taylor; report of the general assembly meeting at Des Moines, Iowa, and vocal solo, Mrs. R. O. Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Black and son, James, of W. Spring-st., left Saturday for Lakeside, where they have taken a cottage for the summer months.

GLAD THE HAND THAT SPORTS AN EMBROIDERED GLOVE!

BY MARIAN HALE
GLOVES, like shoes, have gone wild this season. You simply can't tell where you will find them.

In many cases, of course, you won't find them at all. The younger generation has never taken to gloves as seriously as the older one did.

But for such as cling to the custom, Fashion has certainly contrived some novel effects.

The sort of embroidery that used to be seen on doilies and sofa pillows a decade ago seems to have turned up on long white kid gloves.

At one of the smartest shops I saw rambler roses, in natural colors, rambling up the length of a pair of long white gloves until they reached the shoulder.

On another pair bachelor buttons blossomed in such profusion as is rarely seen outside an old-fashioned garden.

The embroidery begins where the old conventional three bars used to be stationed so primely.

SOME OTHER VARIETIES
Sport gloves are more apt to be trimmed with strappings of dark leather on white, or light on dark. Sometimes they are perforated with designs.

The beaded glove is new this season. It matches the beaded stocking that is also a newcomer. Sometimes the design is used only over the back of the hand, but often the whole upper part of the long glove is decorated with crystal or many colored beads.

Spangled gloves, too, are new. They carry out a design in sequins. Usually they are gold or silver, and are used on long white kid gloves.

BEHOLD, LACE MITTS!
Lace mitts are prim looking af-airs and do not seem to have much in common with this generation, but they are shown at the smart shops. Often they are of the most cobwebby laces.

Silk gloves seem to be embroiered most often in self colors, or ruffled or fringed for trimming. The woman who rules with an iron hand will never be suspected of it if she avails herself of the season's offerings in coverings.

Mrs. Beecher Moks, of W. Spring-st., will leave Sunday for Lakeside for a brief stay. She will then go to Toledo, where she will take the lake trip to Buffalo, en route to Chautauqua for the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs, June 20-30th.

Dorcas Circle of Zion Lutheran church will meet with Mrs. Wallace Smith, of 610 Linden-st., Thursday afternoon.

BRIDE HONORED WITH PARTY AT COUNTRY CLUB

Saturday Reception at Shawnee Breathes Spirit of Summer Season, as Lima Society Women Compliment Mrs. Carl H. Neville

CLUSTERS of exquisite flowers suggesting a note of summer-time were used in the adornment at the Shawnee Country club, Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Harry O. Bentley, Mrs. Charles B. Killen and Miss Jane Bentley received several hundred guests in honor of Mrs. Carl H. Neville, a recent bride. Mrs. Neville was formerly Miss Julia Taylor, of Toledo. The reception was one of the foremost social functions of the summer months.

Baskets of garden flowers of every hue and description were arranged in the club house while tall, stately palms further enhanced the loveliness.

In the receiving line with the hostesses and the honor guest were Mrs. M. Eugene Taylor, of Toledo and Mrs. W. L. Neville.

Thruout the afternoon a delightful musical program was given by Mrs. Katherine Gramm Shrider, harpist, and Mrs. Gayle C. Dunifon, violinist. An embankment of palms surrounded the musicians.

In the daintily appointed tea, a color scheme of delicate shades of pink and yellow was artistically carried out in the refreshments. The ice cream was in the shape of dainty rosebuds in pink and yellow and the mints were carried out in pink.

Tea was served by a group of young misses including Misses Margaret Gregg, Jeannette Stolzenbach, Ruth Wells, Abigail Sullivan, Helen Johnson, Mary Roberts, Helen and Dorothy Hunter, Lura Mae Gallasie, Geradine Maginn, Josephine Garretson, Bess Sharpley, Helen Hughes, Rosemary Christen, Betty Clark, Florence Price, Miriam Kaufman, Louise Ackerman, Gertrude Boose, Bernice Rosenbaum and Leona Bernstein.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. M. Eugene Taylor, of Toledo; Mrs. C. B. Churchill, of Bellefontaine; Mrs. B. L. Neff, of Huntingdon; Mrs. Bert Malone, of Springfield and Mrs. George Mann, of Roseville, Ill.

Mrs. Rollin R. Durant (Gladys Howard), whose marriage was an event of Saturday afternoon entertained the members of her bridal party and a group of guests at dinner at the Hotel Argonne, Friday evening.

The appointments were carried out in pink and white and favors of dainty corsage bouquets were presented to the women.

Covers were arranged for Miss Florence E. Loar, of Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Mase, of Pittsburg; Miss Martha Storer, of Belleville; Miss Mildred Conn, of Shawnee; Donald Durant, of Westerville; Lloyd Shaw, of Columbus and Mrs. F. A. Rochrig, of Pasadena, Cal.

As an informal courtesy to Miss Lura Mae Gallasie, bride-elect of Robert Haas, of Greensburg, Ind., Miss Dorothy Collins, of S. Cole-st., entertained informally at 1 o'clock luncheon at the Elks' Home, Friday.

Places were arranged for Miss Gallasie; Misses Charlette Steber, Mary Parmenter, Gertrude Boose, Kathryn Shafer, Mrs. Ralph Sweeney, Mrs. Glenn Woodruff and the hostesses.

One of the foremost social functions of the week will be a 1 o'clock luncheon to be given at the Shawnee Country club Tuesday with Mrs. R. T. Gregg, Mrs. Roy B. Gregg and Miss Margaret Gregg as hostesses.

DEDICATION

FOR generations upon generations working in Jewels and Precious Metals has been recognized as a master craft.

Ever since the far-gone time in biblical days when love for personal adornment was first recognized this Craft has grown and prospered.

Perhaps no other business, not even Banking, stands upon the same high plane. Because, aside from sordid business, both romance and sentiment enter into this trade, something that no other business carries with it.

The time is gone when the Master-

Craftsman stands at his bench before you working in Precious Metals. Modern practices have come and modern methods far excel the handiwork of these olden days.

But romance and sentiment still play their part in the Craft today. Here in this shop we live up to the old traditions in a new and modern way, bringing the best of the world's warts to you, and withal still clinging to the sentiment connected with our Craft and Art.

So in the spirit of ye olden-tyme we invite you to make this store your shopping place.

Miss Hazel Marie Flinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Flinn became the bride of Harold M. Jay, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Jay, in a quiet ceremony at the manse of the Market Street Presbyterian church, 116 S. Jameson-ave Wednesday morning at 1 o'clock. The Rev. Samuel Huecker officiated.

The bride was gowned in white organdy with trimmings of ivory cord and satin. Her corsage was of sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jay attended the couple. Mrs. Jay wore a blue organdy dress and her corsage was of sweet peas.

A wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. A color scheme of pink and white prevailed in the table appointments and covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Jay, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jay, Mr. and Mrs. William Mills, Mrs. H. C. Hoover, Mrs. Frank Rutland, Misses Valerie Flinn, Irene Wagner, Alta Ruth and Mary Mills.

Mr. Jay and his bride left on a trip to Chicago and Indianapolis and after the first of the week will reside in this city on N. Jefferson-st. The bride's going away outfit was a mid-nite blue tulle suit with a hat to match.

Delta Alpha Class of the South Side Church of Christ held the regular monthly meeting Thursday evening with Mrs. Coral Johns, of E. Euclid-st. as hostess. Plans were made for an all day picnic to be held at the home of Mrs. Bailey, in Rockport, Wednesday, June 28th. Contestants, in which Mrs. Jesse Hargrove and Mrs. Charles Yoakum, were successful were enjoyed and the hostesses were assisted by Miss Margaret Johns in serving delicious refreshments. Miss Leah Rutledge, of California, a former member, was the only guest.

Next meeting will be held in July with Mrs. Earl Reed, of Secaucus, Mrs. Clara Parlette will act as the assistant hostess.

Miss Grace Russell, of Hazel-av, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at her home Thursday evening honoring Miss Gertrude Winslow, who will become the bride of Paul Welch, on Forest, June 26th. Music and games and contests, in which Miss Ruth Thomas and Mrs. Johnson were successful, were enjoyed and at 10 o'clock a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Mrs. J. S. O'Connor, of W. McAdams-st., will entertain the members of the Triumphant Euchre club at the final gathering for the club season, Wednesday afternoon.

Honoring Miss Charlotte Sieber, bride-elect of R. Kenneth Kerr, of Wilmington, Miss Dorothy Collins, of S. Cole-st., will entertain with a 5 o'clock tea, Tuesday.

Mrs. A. L. Hochstetler entertained a group of guests at her home Thursday evening honoring Mrs. Lucile, Geraldine and Quinton Robertson, all of whom are leaving soon for Oklahoma. The afternoon was enjoyed informally and at 4 o'clock the hostess, assisted by Mrs. C. L. Robertson, served a dainty lunch.

Those present included Violet Tillman, Hester Johnson, of Bowling Green; Marion Hochstetler, of Bluffton, Mrs. M. A. Cramer, Mrs. John Greenfelder, Mrs. Frank Merle, Mrs. C. L. Robertson and the honor guests.

A luncheon was given in honor of Miss Beatrice Fenson, bride-elect of Elwood Thomas, at the home of Mrs. Devoy Whitney, of Holmes-av. Music and games were the pastime and at a late hour a delicious buffet luncheon was served. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Warren Rumbough.

Those present included Misses Norma Smoot, Esther Broadbeck, Florence Widmark, Mary Jacobs, Golda Lawson, Laura Umbach, Mrs. Jesse Hargrove and the honor guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Melford Cain, of the Elizabeth-apt., entertained the Epworth League of Grace M. E. church at their home last Monday evening. After the business session the evening was enjoyed in games and contests and the hostess was assisted in serving a dainty luncheon by Miss Belle Glaze, Golda Adams and Emma Becker.

Complimenting Miss Harriet Hutchinson, of St. Marys, Miss Wanda Sauer, of N. Main-st., entertained informally at 5 o'clock tea at her home, Saturday.

In celebration of her 10th birthday anniversary, Miss Rachel Huff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Huff, of N. Collett-st., entertained a group of little friends at her parents' Thursday. The afternoon was enjoyed in games and informal diversion after which guests were invited to the dining room, where a dainty repast was served. Pink roses centered the table and lighted pink candles were suspended from the chandelier to the four corners of the table and the color scheme of pink and white prevailed in all the appointments.

Places were arranged for Miriam Morton, Ruth Jones, Mabel Horner, Lois McPherson, Isabelle Rakestraw, Ellene Huff, Doris Cook, Ruth Hastings, Doris Funk, Charleen Fisher, Mildred Winomiller, Madeline Euser, Mary Barrington, Elizabeth Huff and the hostess.

Members of the Mercy Circle of King's Daughters will motor to the summer home of Mrs. C. E. Schell at Sandy Beach Wednesday for an all day gathering and picnic. Mrs. Clinton Sealls and Mrs. Francis Durbin are in charge of the transportation and Mrs. R. O. Bigley, Mrs. Charles East, Mrs. Lester Pratt and Mrs. C. E. Schell, of the refreshments.

Harmony club met with Mrs. W. H. Francis, of W. Kibby-st., Thursday. Contests were enjoyed following the business session and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Those present included Mesdames Wayne Guy, Park Schleister, Howard Nicolet, Carl Hershe, Cliff McCarty, Howard Heiser, Guy LaRue, O. B. May and W. H. Francis.

Next meeting will be held Thursday, June 29th, with Mrs. Guy LaRue, of Harrog.

Mr. and Mrs. Val Kohl (Alleene Hoover), who have been making their home in Los Angeles, Cal., are visiting in Portland, Oregon at the present time. They will arrive in Lima the latter part of July.

The most prominent wedding of the past week and one of the most elaborate of the season was that of Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock at Temple Beth Israel when Miss Clara Schachne Brunner, daughter of Mrs. Selma Brunner became the bride of Rabbi Harry Sterling Margolis, of Bridgeport, Conn., son of Mrs. M. Margolis, of Dayton. Rabbi Julian Morgenstern, of Cincinnati officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Richard Schachne, of Chillicothe. Her attendants were Miss Constance Wise and Miss Helen Margolis, of Dayton, as bridesmaids and Miss Lola Zeckhauser, of Columbus as maid of honor. Julius Schachne, of Chillicothe officiated as best man and the ushers were Walter Rothman, of Detroit; Morris Uriche, of Milwaukee; Richard Schachne, of Chillicothe and Arthur Wohlgenuth.

An elaborate wedding dinner at the Elks' Home followed the ceremony and at 8:30 o'clock a reception was held. Rabbi Margolis and his bride left on a several weeks' wedding trip and after July 1st will return to Lima. They will leave during the month of August for the east, where they will make their home.

The bride is a graduate of the Chillicothe high school. She attended Ohio State University and is a member of the Sigma Delta Tau sorority.

Out-of-town guests for the ceremony included Mr. and Mrs. R. Schachne, Richard, Pete and Maurice Schachne and Miss Maxine McGarney, all of Chillicothe; Mrs. Flora Abt and Oscar Abt, Miss Lucille Simon, all of Canton; Mr. and Mrs. S. Margolis, Mr. and Mrs. M. Margolis, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Margolis, Mrs. Max Margolis, Mrs. M. Margolis, Mr. and Mrs. J. Margolis, Mr. and Mrs. A. Margolis and Miss Adele Margolis, all of Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. S. Harris, Misses Selma Kessler and Sarah Moyer, all of Toledo; Miss Juliet Marks, of Kenton; Harry L. Solomon and Miss Miriam Hoffman, of Columbus; Raymond Shilling, of Butte, Mont., and Mr. and Mrs. E. Horwitz, of Middletown.

The Rev. William H. Howard read the marriage lines, which united in marriage, his daughter, Miss Gladys Marjorie and Rollin R. Durant, of Columbus. The ceremony was performed Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First United Brethren church, which was attractively decorated with palms, ferns and pink and white peonies for the occasion.

A short musical program was given by Mrs. R. P. Mase, of Pittsburg and Miss Grace John, of Elida, preceding the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white silk with panels of real Spanish lace. Her veil was of white tulle fastened to the corsage with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Florence E. Loar, of Pittsburg, college room-mate of the bride at Otterbein college, was the maid of honor. She was attired in a rose colored canton crepe dress heavily embroidered with beads. She wore a grey hat and carried a bouquet of old fashioned flowers. The bride's mother wore a grey crepe de chine gown and a large black hat.

The little flower girls, Mary Elizabeth Groce, and Eleanor Louise Brown, of Circleville, cousins of the bride, wore dainty pink organdie frocks.

Donald Durant, of Westerville, brother of the bridegroom officiated as best man.

An informal reception and a wedding dinner at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony.

The bride, who was a teacher in Central high school during the past year is a graduate of Otterbein college, where she was an assistant professor in chemistry.

Mr. Durant is a well known musician of Columbus and a graduate of Ohio State University. He has a Fellowship in the physiology department of the Medical School at the university.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Durant will be home at 2331 Indiana-av, Columbus.

A promising event of the week will be the alumni banquet to be given by St. Rose alumni Thursday evening in the K. of C. club rooms.

Mrs. Bernadine Dimond, cellist; Mrs. Josephine McHaffey, violinist and Miss Leona Feltz, pianist will play during the dinner hour and Mrs. Katherine Gramm Shrieder, harpist will give several numbers.

Following the banquet an address of welcome will be given by Miss Ruth Callahan. Edgar Conroy will act as toastmaster. Miss Catherine McFarland will favor with a vocal solo. Leonard Canavan will give a talk on "College Life" while Miss Pauline O'Connor will have for her subject, "History." The Rev. W. A. Tobin will give an address on "Responsibility." Mrs. Bertha Feltz Callahan will give a vocal solo and remarks will be given by Messrs. A. E. Manning.

Officers of the association are: Ruth Callahan, president; John Barrett, vice-president; Miss Anna Riley, secretary; Miss Frances Connelly, treasurer and Miss Pauline O'Connor, historian.

Entertainment committee includes Misses Nell Bland, Margaret McGarney, Helen Shanahan, Elizabeth Johnson, Loretta Kelly, Messrs. James Fitzgerald, Clarence McCray, Frank Callahan and Leo O'Connor.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Bloom and daughter Betty Jane, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Crider and daughter Elma and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Evans motored to Russell's Point to spend the week-end at The Oak's Cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Orebaugh and little daughter, Mary Louise, of Cincinnati arrived in this city Saturday for a visit with Mrs. Orebaugh's mother, Mrs. Belle Gottfried, of N. Baxter-st.

Misses Helen and Marguerite Moyer, of S. West-st., will entertain members of the Win One class of the Bethany Lutheran church at their home, Monday evening.

Monday, June 19 — that's the date The Lima News starts to print "Scaramouche," the greatest historical romance in 10 years.

SCREEN STARS ON WEEK'S BILL

Betty Compson, Wallace Reid, Tom Moore, on Movie Program

SUMMER ATTRACTIONS GOOD

Fannie Hurst's "Good Provider" to be Shown Here

A NUMBER of the screen's most brilliant luminaries will entertain us at the various cinema houses during the coming week, each one appearing in pictures that have been listed as the summer's most pretentious offerings.

Fannie Hurst's "The Good Provider" has a prominent position in the week's roster. Its transfer to the silver screen has been ably accomplished with Dora Davidson, Vera Gordon and Miriam Battista in the leading roles.

"For Those We Love," starring Betty Compson, is the attraction today at the Sigma theatre. The story, written by Perley Poore Sheehan, abounds in homely episodes and intimate glimpses of small town life. Lon Chaney and Richard Rosson are also prominently cast.

At the Lyric, Tom Moore in "Mr. Barnes of New York" continues as the comedy attraction. Mr. Moore's role in this Goldwyn production is an unusually versatile and picturesque one, and he carries off his part with that imperiousness and assurance which characterizes all his productions. The girl? Naomi Childers this time.

"The Charm School," Alice Duer Miller's delightful comedy, comes to the Majestic theatre today, where it will remain over Monday. Wallace Reid, in the role of superintendent of a girl's school, makes an amusing and handsome hero, while Lila Lee is the girl in this particular case.

Frank Mayo arrives today at the Rialto, where he is appearing in "Tracked to Earth," a thrilling, man-sized production with plenty of thrills and action galore.

Story Fades As Jackson Quizzes Alleged Soldier

Familiarity of Judge Jackson with army life proved too much for Calvin Martin, 50, of 953 S. Main-st., brought before him Saturday on a drunkenness charge.

Martin said he was a veteran of the Canadian army, in which he served two years.

"Where did you serve?" the judge questioned.

"Well, I was under Major Mills."

"Yes, but where did you fight," and Jackson pulled out a big map of the French battlefield.

"I'm not discussing it," Martin broke into a smile as he saw his story prepared beforehand, see before the judge's knowledge.

Assuming other tactics, the prisoner declared he really served in the U. S. regulars.

"How do you present arms?" Martin's exhibition caused a guffaw. It did not pass muster.

"How many in a squad?" was Jackson's next question.

Martin was unable to answer and finally admitted he never was a doughboy.

"Fifteen dollars," announced the magistrate. He could not pay and was sent to jail.

Working for the Indiana Pipe Line in Huntington, Martin said, he had his ankle broken a month ago while loading pipe on a wagon. Police mistook him for a drunk when he set the injured member down in a hole on S. Main-st and staggered with pain.

"They don't pull that army stuff up here," said the judge, who was a captain in the late war and is supposed of wide army knowledge.

Louise Jones, Bessie, Gwendolin and Thomas Bixel, Lillian and Thomas McElwee, William, Harold and Velma Harper, Margaret Harrison, Leon White, Thelma Thomas, Vivian and Alma Green, Rosetta Johnson, Conetta Manley, Bernadine Byrd, Grace Herman, Robert and Bernice Watson, Rebecca Hall, Florence Body, Martha Turner, Louise Emmerson, Ida May Lawson, Verle Goings, Eugene White, Griffith Burden, Joseph Bradfields, Alma Green, George Carpenter, Nellie Jackson, Edgar Emmerson, Elmer Walker, Marcon Rody, Mary Louise Lowery, Anita Goings, Earl Rody.

The Allen Busy Brotherhood will meet Monday evening, in the basement of the Church.

Fred P. Searles, 924 W. High-st. has achieved remarkable success with Colored Boy Scout work in the city. Searles has worked unceasingly to promote the betterment of the colored boys of his organization in the public schools. Of the 22, but one came under the required grade. He has visited many homes and churches and societies are interesting themselves in his work.

Searles hopes to be able to collect camp at Lake St. Marys during the summer and give them the privilege enjoyed by other Boy Scouts. Mrs. Amy L. Van Cleave, principal of Horace Mann school, declares that his work has had a marked effect upon the boys of her school. Mrs. Jennie B. Egar, principal of Lowell school, says that efforts of Searles have been very much appreciated in connection with the movement and work in that school.

Principal R. E. Offenbauer states that Searles has directed colored boys in Central High school this year and has caused them to do better school work, as a result of scout work.

The Astonishing Disappearance of Nat Goodwin's Last Widow

*Somewhere Lovely Margaret Moreland, Goodwin's Fifth and Most Adored Wife, Is Honeymooning with Her Third Husband,
While Broadway and Her Attorneys Are Searching for the Blonde Beauty*

Nat Goodwin Was Starring in "Why Marry?" When This Question Was Answered for Him by Margie Moreland, His Beautiful Blonde Fifth Wife. She Divorced Him, Married an Army Officer and—Disappeared from Broadway Like a Shooting Star in the Night.

WHERE is pretty Margie Moreland-Goodwin-Gilson—Broadway's golden girl—Nat Goodwin's last widow—his "one woman"—his favorite of his five famous wives—blonde, bewitching Margie, whom he once said he loved the best of all?

She has flashed out of the picture like a shooting star! Yesterday none was burning more brightly on Broadway; today she is engulfed in outer darkness. And so all the friends, modistes, milliners, costumers, doctors, lawyers, reporters, hotel managers and theatrical producers Margie Moreland used to know can tell you neither Margie Moreland has gone or why she vanished!

Anyone on the Rialto would have said, two years ago, that it would be easier to steal the Hippodrome than for oblivion to swallow up Margie Moreland. She was so beautiful, so famous, so fixed in the public spotlight after her marriage to Nat Goodwin.

He met her in California when he was fifty-six and she was just turned twenty. Margie was married to George Doughty, a real estate broker. Nat had been married four times—to Eliza Weathersby at twenty-one; to Nellie Pease at thirty-one; to Maxine Elliott at forty-one; to Edna Goodwin at fifty-one.

He was waiting for another ten years to true by before he married again. But when he saw Margie, he broke his ten-year rule. They went riding in Nat's motorboat along the California coast. Margie was writing a letter, and the paper blew overboard, and Nat jumped in gallantly to get it, and Margie rescued him just before he was about to go under for the third time.

It was all very romantic. They took Nat to St. Catherine's Hospital at Santa Monica, where the internes said he never would have pulled through if it hadn't been for the care and courage of Margie, who was at his bedside night and day.

Nat agreed with the doctors. He said Margie was the most wonderful girl on earth. He said it so emphatically that George Doughty sued him for $25,000 for alienating Margie's affections. The suit didn't come to trial because Margie sued for divorce, and Doughty didn't contest. Then she married Nat.

"This time it's for keeps," announced the bridegroom. "She's the prettiest wife I ever had. She's ideal—all woman."

"He's the most interesting man in the world," said Margie. "I'll be happy just to be Mrs. Nat Goodwin the rest of my life."

They returned to the stage together.

Edna Goodrich, the Stage Beauty, Fourth in Line Among Nat Goodwin's Wives.

And, at Right, Georgia Gardner, Engaged to Marry Nat Goodwin on His Sixty-first Birthday. He Died at Sixty and She Was His Heir.

Margie Moreland, Ex-Fifth and Last Wife of Nat Goodwin, Who Can't Be Found by Attorneys Seeking to Settle His Estate.

Margie was Nat's leading woman in Los Angeles. She crossed the continent to Broadway, where her golden beauty got her the leading role in "The Pardon" at the Bandbox Theatre. Nat stopped off in Chicago to open in a new show.

It was called "Why Marry?" and the facetious answer he gave was "Just to be divorced!" He spoke prophetically, for the run of "Why Marry?" had scarcely begun when deputies served him with papers in the case of Goodwin vs. Goodwin. Margie was suing for divorce.

"We are the best of pals," she told reporters in New York, "but we can't live together successfully as man and wife."

To prove they were good friends, she went to Milwaukee, where Nat was taken ill, and nursed him. Rumors of reconciliation were in the air when Margie shattered them by marrying Lieutenant Raymond Gilson, of the United States Army. That was just three years ago, in 1919.

Nat was playing in Baltimore. Margie's home town, when he got the news in his dressing-room at the theatre. He was hard hit. To quote Theodore Babcock, who was playing on the same bill:

"Nat threw his arms around my neck and wept like a little child. 'Margie was the only woman in all the world,' he told me. 'She was the one girl I ever loved.'"

It is his heart had been really broken, he could not have aged faster after that. In his sixtieth year he took to his bed in the Claridge Hotel, desperately ill. Two of his former wives were in New York then—Edna Goodrich and Margie Moreland—both staying at the Hotel Netherlands.

But it was another beauty, Georgia Gardner, an auburn-haired actress and playwright, who was at his side when he died. She said Nat Goodwin had planned to marry her on his sixty-first birthday; on his death, she was the heir to the small estate he left—only $6,000.

But Klaw and Erlanger, the theatrical producers, put in a judgment claim. Litigation ensued that lasted more than a year, but Klaw and Erlanger finally won the suit, but even then all matters in connection with the estate could not be cleared up. It was necessary to find Nat Goodwin's "last widow"—Margie Moreland.

"Where is Margie Moreland?" asked the lawyers.

They inquired of her attorneys, House, Grossman & Vorhaus, of No. 115 Broadway. The reply came back that Leo Brilles, who looked after her personal affairs for years, had not seen her since her marriage to Lieutenant Gilson. Somebody said she was seen on the streets of Nyack, N. Y., shortly after—that was positively the last report.

"Try the hotels," said the lawyers.

At the Netherlands, the Claridge, and the Great Northern—at each of which Miss Moreland had been a resident guest for different periods before her marriage—the managers shook their heads. They had not seen Miss Moreland in nearly two years. They knew her well. No, she had left no forwarding address. Mail was being held for her at each hotel; stacks of it had accumulated.

"Somebody must know her whereabouts," urged the lawyers. "How about the shops she patronized?"

Investigators called at modistes after modistes, at milliners after milliners. They all knew Miss Moreland. She had been a good customer. Now that someone mentioned it, they hadn't seen her for a long time. Why, it must be nearly two years—how fast time flies!

Broadway suddenly woke up to the fact that here was a tantalizing mystery. At first blush, the thing looked impossible. How could a woman as well known as Margie Moreland—a ravishing blonde beauty, an actress, a celebrity, Nat Goodwin's grass and sod widow, a girl to whom Broadway had seemingly been the very breath of life—how could she drop out overnight so completely that those who had been most intimate with her were dumbfounded to account for her whereabouts?

It seemed but yesterday that her name was on everyone's lips, and her face was as familiar in the New York jazz belt as Paul Whitman's saxophone. Now suddenly all the other luminaries in the firmament where Margie Moreland had also shone discovered that she hadn't been glowing there in nearly two years.

A grand hunt began. Broadway, which had been indifferent so long as nobody commented on the absence of Margie

The Late Nat Goodwin, Five Times a Bridegroom. This Is the Last Picture Ever Taken of the Famous Comedian—a Flashlight Made at His Own Request While He Was on His Death Bed.

Moreland, took avidly to the search for her when she became a figure of mystery. Everywhere the question was asked, "Have you seen Margie Moreland?" And always the answer shot back, "No, I'm looking for her! Have you?"

Acting on the rumor that Margie was last observed strolling about Nyack, investigators for the lawyers hustled to that town. Nyack is not a large city. Several people were found who remembered seeing the pretty blonde. She was with an army officer, they said, and if they remembered aright, the two had departed in an automobile.

There the trail ended. In desperation the attorneys inquired at army headquarters, but could not trace Lieutenant Raymond Gilson through that source.

Nor did inquiry at all other sources trace Margie Moreland, either under that name or as Mrs. Raymond Gilson, or as Mrs. Nat Goodwin, or as Margaret Parrott, which was her name before she went on the stage. Only silence answered what by that time had become a universal question: "Where is Margie Moreland?"

Broadway is still asking it without result. If Margie is still honeymooning with her young lieutenant, say Margie's friends, it has been a record-breaking honeymoon. Not only has it lasted two years, but the honeymooners have fooled the world—for Broadway can't tell you whether they are at Niagara Falls, Bermuda, Hawaii, or right at home in little old New York!

The Billion Cigarettes a Week Our Girls Help to Smoke

Amazing Government Statistics Reveal How War and Women Have Tripled the Sale of "Fags"

ers, athletes, explorers, manicurists, second-story men, society women, feminists, anti-feminists, intellectuals, roughnecks, university professors, doctors, surgeons, window washers, missionaries, grandmothers, counterfeiters, Red Cross nurses and cuties in the chorus.

The actual figures have just been made public by the U. S. Department of Internal Revenue and the statement that war and women are chiefly responsible for the amazing increase is based on definite facts.

At the outbreak of the war, in 1914,

WAR and Women did it!
Twenty years ago, in the United States, we smoked less than three billion cigarettes annually.

This year—or rather in the 365 days which have just passed—the people of the United States have smoked more than fifty billion cigarettes!

So many that if you strung them all into one long cigarette it would reach 2,367,422 miles, and you could light it on a star ten times further distant than the moon.

A billion cigarettes a week! More cigarettes in three weeks than we used to smoke in an entire year!

The answer, roughly speaking, is nearly everybody—statesmen, generals, admirals, captains of industry, churchmen, burglars, war heroes, hod-carriers, grand opera stars, Nobel prize winners, condemned murder-

America was smoking about sixteen billion cigarettes yearly. In the Spring of 1917, when the United States entered the war, the total had only slightly increased.

Limited groups of women were already smoking in the United States, and had been for several years, but sentiment against it was still widespread and opinion persisted that for men the pipe or cigar was the more "manly" smoke.

Then came America's participation in the war—and soon the newspapers and motion picture screens were flooded with scenes depicting the finest body of fighting men the world ever produced—and it was a cigarette-smoking army!

It had been taken for granted that the "doughboys" would consume a lot of tobacco. But nobody quite dreamed how much. Indeed, the actual figures have never been compiled. But General George W. Goethals said:

"No substitute will take the place of tobacco. It is almost as essential in many cases as food itself."

And General Pershing, commander of the A. E. F., in France, cabled Washington:

"Tobacco is as necessary as food. We need a thousand tons at once."

Cigarettes were distributed by every organization (including the religious ones), that contributed to the welfare of the soldiers. The Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, all distributed cigarettes. Physicians, nurses, chaplains, stretcher bearers who labored to save the wounded and minister to the dying, all aided in the distribution.

Men smoked cigarettes while going into battle, while performing deeds that made them immortal; they smoked in the hospitals; they smoked when they flitted with French girls behind the lines; they smoked when they flitted with death in front of the lines.

They smoked cigarettes—and they wore wrist watches—and they told you where to get off if you objected to either.

All this proved nothing about the possible physiological harmfulness of tobacco as a narcotic. A man may be a healthy hero, and still have a habit which isn't good for him. The purely medical side of the cigarette question is still controversial.

Cigarettes might (or might not) be harmful. But they had become respectable. They had "graduated" at least, from the gin-rum-and-dope classification into the tea-and-coffee circle. For tea and coffee are also narcotics.

And it was when they became thus "respectable" that many American women (some in almost every social and economic status) began to smoke. They saw British and French women of the highest social standing smoking cigarettes. And they followed suit.

In so-called "society" and "artistic" circles, cigarettes are smoked by some women everywhere. Not only do women smoke in their own homes, hotels, restaurants, theatre boxes, but they smoke in the most formal social functions, but now they may be seen from time to time strolling on Fifth Avenue, in New York, or riding in the park, or breezing through the country in a roadster, puffing a cigarette just like their trousered escorts.

The Large American Leaf at Left and the Smaller Turkish Leaf Show the Great Difference in Size and Texture Between the Two Kinds of Cigarette Tobacco.

This article is neither an attack on, nor a defense of cigarettes. The fact that the army smoked them in vast numbers proves nothing in the medical controversy as to whether tobacco is good or bad for the human constitution. The fact that women have taken them up proves nothing on this subject.

The old idea that cigarettes were a deadly "dope," comparable to cocaine, morphine or opium, has been exploded. Exhaustive analyses made and published by Government and State laboratories have failed to show a trace of any foreign habit-forming drug or narcotic in any standard brand of cigarette. Dr. Wiley, the celebrated pure food expert, who is personally opposed to smoking and who believes that smoking is better left undone, declares:

"As far as I know, opium, arsenic, etc., have never been found in a cigarette. This is a rumor which is constantly being floated, but is without general foundation."

The question as to what harm there may be in the cigarette itself is a separate one. The average cigarette you smoke, if you are a smoker, consists of nothing but tobacco, a vegetable paper wrapper, now usually made from flax or hemp, and treated with a few harmless chemicals to make it burn smoothly. The tobacco is usually Maryland or Virginia, or Turkish. There are some all-American tobacco cigarettes and some all-Turkish. Most of the biggest selling brands are blends. It is the blend, invented in 1905, that is credited with helping, more than anything else, the war and women, to increase cigarette consumption.

For some people Turkish alone is pungent and heavy, and American alone is too lacking in aroma. Very strong American tobaccos, like the black perique grown in Louisiana, are seldom if ever used in blends.

So the cigarette you smoke is composed of nothing but paper and tobacco. Is tobacco, too, harmless? If this whole problem were set in solid agate type, it could begin to contain even a brief digest of the varied opinions.

The most extreme anti-tobacco view voiced by Dr. Charles G. Pease, of New York, who insists that "tobacco is the greatest poison (outside of prussic acid) now circulating in the blood stream of the people day and night." He says the burning question is "whether the individual shall have liberty to assist in degenerating humanity," and his own view is that tobacco should be prohibited like opium, caline and whiskey.

The New York Medical Journal declares: "In our experience and judgment, injurious effects do not follow in any important percentage of people the moderate smoking of tobacco, whether as cigarettes or otherwise. We assert unhesitatingly that cigarette smoking is not per se injurious, that the mass of sensational newspaper cases in the past ascribing all sorts of horrors to the use of cigarettes are false as they are puerile."

Dr. Pease says the nicotine poisons the smoker's system.

The Medical Journal says: "It is doubtful whether any nicotine ever reaches the mouth of the smoker except that present in the moistened tobacco in contact with his lips. The smoke products of tobacco do not obtain any important quantity of nicotine."

The Encyclopedia Britannica says tobacco is a mild narcotic (like tea or coffee) which has a soothing and stimulating quality when taken in moderation, which produces no serious appreciable effects unless indulged in to excess, when it may become harmful.

Most medical authorities are agreed there are two ways in which excess cigarette smoking can produce definite harm. One is the purely mechanical effect of the smoke on the mucous membranes of the throat and mouth. The other is the effect of excessive use of tobacco on the nerves. While certain authorities believe that the weight of opinion is that tobacco is mildly but definitely narcotic, and a "chain smoker," the person who smokes to excess, may suffer from nervousness, the one side or depression on the other. The question of how much is "too much" most doctors will tell you, depends on the individual equation.

On one point all authorities are agreed and that is that growing boys and girls should never smoke. Manufacturers discourage and try to prevent the use of cigarettes by minors; and in this count while some boys do smoke, in spite of woodsheds and parental slippers, it is probable that the great bulk of the fifty billion cigarettes which Uncle Sam puffed away in the twelve months just past have been consumed by grown men—and women.

CHAPTER XII
I'LL TELL THE WORLD!

Garrick spread the net far and wide to intercept the "Bauchante." A few minutes he had the radio from the New York police station, all the big private broadcasting stations, even Defoe's apparatus in the boathouse sending out a periodical signal of alarm. He had turned the radio world veritably upside down in the search.

Forenoon lengthened into afternoon. Dick watched feverishly tuning up his Defoe teleautomatic hydro-aeroplane.

"This is one of the newest of scientific teleautomatics," he remarked to Garrick.

"Teleautomatics?"

"Yes. You probably know it by another name. There is something weird, fascinating about the very idea. It's here safely, upstairs, turning switches, pressing buttons, depressing levers. Ten miles away a vehicle, an auto, a ship, an aeroplane, a submarine obeys me!"

"It may carry enough of the latest and most modern explosive that after-war science can invent, enough to explode to rival the worst of earthquakes. Yet it obeys my will. It goes where I direct it. It explodes when and where I want it. And it wipes off the face of the earth anything that I want annihilated. That's teleautomatics!"

Garrick regarded his friend with genuine admiration. "I won't go into my radio-combinator, my tele-communicator, my audio relay, and all the rest," went on Dick. "You see I have taken the boys of the radio combinator—forward, back, radio propeller motor, stop propeller motor, rudder right, rudder left, the angles, light signals forward and aft, and all the rest. It's really de-veloped contact. The machinery is always ready, but it delays until the right, selective impulse is given. And I take advantage of the delay to have the message-signal repeated back to me, to check up on it."

"Vira's back!"

"It was Nita Walden in her car with McKay before the laboratory. I called me from Southold. I was over and met her train on the main line. And I've brought her here first. Guy, telephone to Glenn; I know how anxious the boy is."

"But how? What of Ruth?"

Garrick looked at Dick.

"Ask Vira. She has come to tell you all she knows. I made her. These youngsters are getting toned down. Maybe Ruth will listen to person when she gets back. Oh, if I could have her!"

"I'll see that, too!" cried Dick.

"Well, you see, we found a duck boat in the hold, a boat for one. One of us could get off. Ruth made the choice—insisted—settled it. It had to be done in a second. She made me go—even when I fought her to stay."

Dick grasped Nita Walden's hand in emotion. It was a splendid piece of heroism of Ruth.

"Don't you see?" explained Vira. "I was as sure as I could be, posing as a rescuee. The jig was up for the gang. All they wanted was to make a clean getaway, take all the jewelry and the money. They waited until the last minute to get fifty thousand for the Inner Circle, and the other stuff. But it failed. Then the only thing that remained was to get away—with Ruth—the ten-million dollar heiress, as they speak of her."

"You know, the 'Bauchante' had been taking the stuff off, run-runners. It was sheer bluff, posing as a rescuee. It was stored on the 'Sea Vamp.' Every time anyone drove into the city, they would take a couple of cases or more to the Inner Circle or the Garage. From the sitting crank reports of the whereabouts of the fast scout cruiser.

"Vira," said Glenn ardently, "the moment they were alone, I won't take 'No' this time—nor even 'Wait.'"

Vira blushed. "Just as soon as we get Ruthie."

"Here's the first report that I place any confidence in," shouted Garrick in a tone that could be heard all over the boathouse. "It's from a freighter—just off Seaville—sighted a boat answering the description of the 'Bauchante' putting into the Great South Bay."

"That checks up with Ruth's fire Island message!" called Dick from below. "The 'Bauchante' must have rounded the Island. I guess she could; she's fast enough."

"How's the work coming on, Dick?"

"Shouted Garrick, all energy now with the first wireless clue. "I'll be twilight in an hour. Can you hurry it up?"

"All ready now. I've been all dressed up with where to go for fifteen minutes!" called back Dick from below.

They swung open the doors and ran the radiophone down the skidway, calling back to McKay to drive Mrs. Walden across the Island to Seaville. The radiophone struck the quiet water of the harbor, the staccato whirr of the two propellers rose to a screech. They were off in a cloud of spray, leaping lightly from the surface to the air and waving a gay goodbye as Nita stepped her hands as in prayer and Vira drew close to Glenn.

The flight to Seaville was only a matter of minutes for there was no time to lose before darkness.

At Seaville a hasty survey disclosed no sign of the "Bauchante" but there was a tremendous crowd down on a bulkhead and they could see them waving and hear their shouts. Dick brought the radiophone down to the water and a couple of small motor boats put out.

"We've got that Curtis and the Larue girl!" shouted a man with a big brass star of the local police force on his chest.

Dick glanced at Garrick. "Anchor here. We must take the time. We must give them the third degree."

Curtis was sour; Rae nervously triumphant. They had been deserted, put ashore, double-crossed. Was it possible that they too, were merely tools of the man-at-the-top? Who was it then? Georges had been eliminated and as in jail with his mouth sealed, Brock was out of the state's evidence to save his miserable hide. Who then? Where was Ruth?

In spite of her capture, Rae looked happier than she had been for days. She was holding on to Jack's arm with the air of possession that seemed to compensate for everything. Curtis did not look so pleased. He was thinking of the vanished fortune and the police he saw glimmering away in the past.

"Dreaming of those hussies? Jack, you're mine—I can't let anyone have you—even when I'm playing the game. These damsel have ditched us! We might better have stayed in our own class. There's good pickings in the cabarets! Lord knows what will happen, now. Here's that Garrick—and Dick! I could tear the eyes out of the whole smart bunch—especially Ruth. Walden. I never trusted her—she's too smart!"

As Garrick and Dick came up, Curtis had his cue from Rae. A clean breast was the next best thing to a clean getaway.

"Talk about Kidd and Morgan and Blackboard!" he exclaimed in anxious disgust. "They were piker pirates! They plundered their pals, I've read. Well, so did this beast—and he carried off a girl, too, a ten-million dollar prize!"

Garrick shot question after question. "Why, the 'Bauchante' was a floating treasure house—the jewels of the Gerard robbery, the Parr jewels—the stuff from a score of others. There was money, oh, I don't know how much, the profits of the bootleg scheme of looting wine cellars all over the Island, of the Inner Circle." Jack swore as he thought of the massed wealth from which he had been "defrauded."

"Why was the 'Bauchante' here?" demanded Garrick.

To take him off, he came across by car from the Radio Central, as soon as he got me—damn him! with the boat into the open ocean safe—Professor Vario, of course!"

"Professor Vario!" echoed Dick in amazement.

"Yes, Professor Vario, head of the biggest gang of bootleggers, black-malers and dress-cut yeggman. I guess you ever heard of Yeh—Georges was the fellow pulled 'em in; Brock was the roughneck—Rae and I were the decoys—Ruth, Vira, Glenn and the others were their cover. Damn his eyes!"

"But—the robberies?" queried Dick.

"Doesn't it explain the robberies? To amass a small fortune, of course. That guy was born money-hungry—and girl-crazy! I know his game. He dragged me into his dirty work—fool that I was—then he expected all the time to come along at the right time, posing as a hero to Ruth, rescuing her from me. Then to Bermuda, the Bahamas, Martinique, anywhere—I don't know. Only I do know now that Vario intended all along to marry that girl—and get ten millions!"

"Explain?" echoed Garrick. "It explains a lot of things. For instance, at the Binnacle, what really happened was that you, Jack, double-crossed Vario and tried to get away with Ruth yourself and he caught you. It just gave him his first chance to play hero, eh?"

Curtis nodded sullenly. "And the night of the dictatorship. With his wave meter, Vario discovered it, found that all his secrets were being spilled in the air, and jammed in on the dictatorship wave length."

Jack listened as if it was the clanking of a chain. He was afraid of Garrick. "Then that broadcasted poison pen message. First Vario had allowed you to get Ruth into a dangerous position at the Binnacle from which he rescued her and played hero. Then this elopement story to compromise her. But he had you right where he wanted you. How? The bigamy charge, of course!"

Rae was now blazing. She might battle Jack. No one else could. She would perjure her little soul but she would fight him clear.

"Do you know the conclusive thing?" Garrick turned to Dick. "That postcard, about last night at the Radio Central told me something. How did my alarm fall? You know, Dick, there's a switch between the studio room and the actual sending apparatus upstairs—not that switch we saw before us, but another. They use it whenever anyone broadcasting tries to put over a bit of advertising or chicanery or if the singer or speaker is rotten, swing the switch and put on a phonograph or something. A million explanations will do, later. The point is that he learned that I was there, so on what I was doing, and choked it off—thereby betraying himself. He has been under cover ever since and this is the first information I've had of him all day—although, without letting Dick or anyone else know of my suspicion, I had private detectives and the police looking for him quietly. He nodded over toward one of the crowd men with the policeman in the crowd whom Dick had not seen. Then to the man. "How long before we came did you get those postcards?"

"Not ten minutes, sir."

"And the 'Bauchante,' which way did it head?"

"He must have got a motorboat somewhere; put out to it the minute it dove in sight; then sent these people ashore after a fight or something. I should say it headed south-east—by east."

"Come—Dick!"

"Just a second Guy. Whose hat was it, Rae, that held the jewels at Gerard's?"

"Mine, of course." Defiantly.

"And what was in the tower with the searchlight at Gerard's that night?"

"Ruth and Glenn." This was spiteful. "We threatened them. But it was the last time."

"And why were the Walden pearls returned?"

"It was his idea, Vario's—to involve her, tie her up tighter, so she wouldn't dare squeal."

"They jumped into the motor boat and a few minutes later the whirling of the propellers and the gorgeous cutting of spray gave them another leap off into the air."

Dick flew by his compass in the direction the Astra man had indicated, then began a series of ever widening horizontal loops. It decreased his direct distance, but it enabled him to cover a wider range in case Vario had turned the course of the "Bauchante" when he got out of sight of land. Fast as the scout cruiser was it could not compete with him for speed. Garrick, with his eye glued to a glass with splendid German lenses, swept the sea.

They had not been flying ten minutes in this fashion and Dick was considering the turn on the southern-most swing of the loop when Garrick shouted above the rush of air, and pointed ahead, further south.

Dick depressed his altitude and they swung along until shortly with the naked eye could be made out a boat which was without doubt the "Bauchante," far out to sea.

"We'll do the best we can," said Nancy. "Have you got a book?"

Mr. Peerbout had a nice little book. "Is to go down to some good place on the earth, and mark down in a little book everything the moon does."

"Now, you children go down on a moon-beam, or wish yourselves down to the earth with your Green Shoes, and I'll fix the handles so that there will be a moon like half a dollar. I mean a dollar cut in half."

"And I'm going to have it as clear as a drug-store window. If it is different, I want you to tell me at once. You can telephone. There's a telephone in Cob Coon's tree. He lives in Old Oak Apartments."

STORK PAYS ELKS VISIT AT PARK

Newcomer Arrives in Time for Flag Day Ceremony.

DAY'S PLANS ARE COMPLETE

Lima Lodge to Present Pole and Flag to City.

Lima's youngest Elk was born at 1:10 p. m. Saturday, just in time to enjoy the Elks Flag Day exercises at Fawcett park Sunday.

This baby elk, Marium, daughter of Bill and Belle and a sister of Johnny, elk in the reserve at Fawcett park, could not have arrived in Lima at a more opportune time.

There was only one difficulty seen Saturday. Members of the Lima lodge who were decorating the park for the flag day exercises found it difficult to keep their minds on the decoration rather than on the baby elk.

Everything is in readiness for the handling of the largest crowd and the biggest and best parade ever seen at an Elks Flag Day celebration. It is stated.

SCOUTS TO AID POLICE
Troops of Boy Scouts will aid the police in handling the crowds and will also take part in the military exercises following the address by Attorney General John G. Price.

Extensive decorations have been placed in the community house and around the park. Special platforms for the speakers and the band have been erected and decorated with flowers and flags.

Lima's military organizations will join with the Elks in honoring the flag. Members of the American Legion, Spanish war veterans and local military companies will also be given prominent places in the parade.

PLAN OF PARADE
Line-up of the parade will be as follows: Lima police squad, massed colors with the American Legion color guard, artillery company, American Legion drum corps, infantry company, Spanish war veterans, G. A. R. veterans in automobiles, Elks' Hussar band and Elks marching club.

One of the most imposing portions of the parade will be the marching club. Its members will be arrayed in their purple and white uniforms and silk hats. Each will carry a large flag.

This parade will leave the Elks' home at 2 p. m. and march to Main-st., then south to the Public Square, west on Market-st. to Cole-st. and south on Cole-st. to the park.

A request has been issued by the Elks that homes and business houses along the line of march be decorated in honor of the day. A large number of homes will be decorated, it is believed.

Flag Day exercises will start at 3 p. m. in the community house at Fawcett park. They will open with bugle call by the bugler of the American Legion drum corps and a march by the Elks Hussar band.

Other features of the program are: "Soldiers' Chorus" by the Elks Male Chorus; Introductory exercises by the officers of the lodge; prayer by Chaplain John W. Wilson; "Boys of the Old Brigade" by the male chorus; History of the flag, by J. W. Beall, Sr.; altar services by the lodge officers; "Auld Lang Syne," by male chorus, and "America" by the male chorus and the audience.

PRICE TO SPEAK
Immediately following the ceremonies John G. Price, attorney general, will deliver the principal address of the afternoon. He is coming with his family and a special delegation of Columbus Elks, headed by John Kauffman.

More than 5,000 flags will be on hand for free distribution to the children. Every child in Lima is invited to attend the ceremonies and get one of the flags.

Formal guard mount and retreat will be participated in by the artillery and infantry companies, the Boy Scouts, the American Legion drum corps and the Elks band.

This will be a dedication service for the new 50 foot flagpole and flag given to the park and the city of Lima by the Elks. These services will take place on the drill field east of the park and will close the day's ceremonies.

LEESON TAKES POSITION WITH SPRINGFIELD "Y"

E. A. Leeson, who has been boys' work secretary of the Lima Y. M. C. A. for the past four years has taken on a position as Associate General Secretary of the Springfield, Illinois, Y. M. C. A.

Leeson's resignation was accepted by the "Y" board of directors, and the appointment was made public Saturday. He will leave for his new post July 1.

In the new position he will be connected with H. P. Scott, general secretary of the Springfield Y. M. C. A. work, Leeson says.

SEEK PAIR HERE
Lima Police on Lookout for Pastor and Girl.

Lima police have been asked to be on the lookout for the Rev. W. W. Culp, 35, Spring Valley pastor, who deserted a wife and nine children Wednesday, to elope with Esther Hughes, 18, a music teacher who boarded in his home.

Mrs. Culp signed a warrant for her husband's arrest Saturday. Pictures of the runaway couple are being broadcasted over the state. Culp is the father of nine children, the youngest of whom are twins, aged six months.

Y. W. TO PRESENT COMEDY
"Mr. Bob," a comedy in three acts will be presented at the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday at 8 p. m. by the Trotty Week club for the benefit of the F. O. P. club.

Cast of characters follows: Miss Grace Fisher as Marion Bryant; Miss Zetta Brugler as Aunt Becky; an old maid; Miss Charlie Hall as Catherine, her niece; Miss Adella Crawford as Philip, her nephew; Miss Vera Housenup as Mr. Brown; Miss Zelma Rossfeld as Jenkins, the butler and Miss Ruth Vogel as Betty, the maid.

At this time a reading, "The Stolen Watermelon," will be given by Miss Orpha Bowers. Another reading, "Setting a Hen," will be given by Miss Margie Guisio and a number "What Money Can't Buy" will be given by Misses Mary Steltzer and Ruby Lutz.

The Dixie Dance will be given by Misses Margaret Steltzer and Mildred Mound and a dance will be given by Coveta and Helen Armstrong. Miss Alice Rossfeld, pianist will play between the acts.

Industrial Council and Oberlin Delegation meetings will be held Monday at 7 p. m. A rehearsal for "Mr. Bob" will be held at 5:30 p. m.

Dress rehearsal for "Mr. Bob" will be held Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. and at 7 p. m. the membership committee meeting will be held at the Y. W. C. A.

An all club dinner will be held at Fawcett park, Wednesday at 6 p. m., providing the weather permits. In case of rain the picnic will be held in the gymnasium. Hostesses for the occasion will be the members of the T. N. T. Tourist Prete and Three Point club. The council will put on a surprise stunt and Miss Bonson, the physical director will be introduced.

WINS HONORS AT SUNDAY SCHOOL

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Miss Agnes E. Campbell has specialized as a Sunday School teacher with the same degree of thoroughness that a teacher in the secular schools studies for educational work. She holds the state Sunday school teachers' certificate and able theologians say there are very few familiar with Bible lore as she.

In 14 years there has been only one week during which Miss Campbell has not attended a Sunday school session, and on that occasion she failed simply because she found the church door locked on account of an epidemic. She holds both a gold bar and a star for different periods of attendance.

Miss Campbell, whose home is at Walton, N. Y., is a junior in the Syracuse University college of business administration.

KOREAN MISSIONARY WILL SPEAK AT BETHANY CHURCH
Rev. S. A. Beck, who has labored for a number of years as a missionary in Korea, will address the Brotherhood of Bethany Lutheran church in the church auditorium, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Beck is now pastor of Second-st. Methodist church. His subject will be "Korea" and her people. Women and children are also invited to the meeting.

STEAMER OVERTURNS
HAMBURG. — Thrilling rescues for forty persons from the Brazilian steamer Ayare, which overturned as it was being towed from Hamburg were reported Saturday. A dozen persons were reported missing. Workmen with acetylene torches cut through the hull in search of bodies. Reports indicate the steamer capsized for want of sufficient ballast.

LODGE NOTICES
A special invitation has been extended to Rabbini Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem, from the Ft. Wayne Shrine, to be their guests next Friday afternoon and evening. Those desiring to attend are asked to call the secretary, A. H. Beecher, H. 1894.

NEGOTIATION FOR THE PURCHASE OF heat, light and power property of the Ohio Electric Co. are practically concluded, it is stated.

As soon as the subject of rates has been settled, the Federal court at Toledo will be asked to sanction the sale of the property, representatives of the power company said.

Unlimited power for Lima, produced in the coal and gas fields of Ohio and West Virginia, is promised should the city grant the company a franchise.

During the week conferences were held with the leaders of each class of industry in Lima, with the intention of ascertaining the effect the new rates will have on each.

Conferees between the city and representatives of the Ohio Power Co., who are bidding for a franchise in Lima, have been concluded and the power men have left the city.

New rates were proposed by them in the party just closed and it is hoped by the city that a solution of power difficulties will soon be seen.

Reports as to the decision reached by the directors of the Ohio Power Co. will be available within the next week or two, Mayor Harold Cunningham said Saturday.

Owners proposed, benefit the home owners and the larger consumers by a lowering of costs. It is stated. Those using a medium amount of power will remain in their present status.

AVIATORS BURNED

Two Army Flyers Die When Plane is Wrecked.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (United Press)—Two aviators were burned to a crisp here Saturday afternoon when the gasoline tank of an airplane in which they were riding exploded.

The men were Lieutenant Robert E. O'Hanly, Sioux Falls, S. D., and Sergeant Arthur Hopperman, of Chicago.

They were with several airplanes from Camp Knox, in an exhibition flight over to Bowman Aero park for the benefit of tuberculosis soldiers at Hazelwood Sanitarium. The wrecked plane was the one up and as it reached an altitude of 100 feet, from some unknown cause its gasoline tank exploded, enveloped in flames as it fell.

A QUESTION OF FAIRNESS

Now and then we sacrifice a new car sale because we will not allow an excessive price for a used car. We do this for the protection of our patrons. If we paid Smith too much, we would have to get it back from Jones. But that would be unfair—and we believe in fairness, even if it hurts.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Ray Blair reports a friend went into a lunch room for lunch. When he finished he reached for his hat. It wasn't on the shelf where he usually placed it. He reported his loss to the cashier. "I'm sure you haven't lost it," she said. "Isn't that your hat on your head?"

G. B. Stern planned to take a two weeks' vacation to go to New York City to visit relatives. But the company he works for was so busy he couldn't get away. Then an order came thru which annoyed Stern very much. "It ordered me to the New York office for six weeks," he reports.

Fred Brodbeck, carpenter, lost hold on a window sill while putting up screens on his house. He fell into a bed of rose bushes. "The old saying that every rose has its thorn is an understatement," he says, "every rose in those bushes had 1000."

Bernie Holleran left his watch at a jeweler's to be repaired. The jeweler gave him one to carry until his own would be fixed. "It's a good watch he let me take," said Holleran. "The only trouble with it is that it won't run."

Gus Holstine, who listens to the claims of many agents selling goods, hung a large portrait in his office. It is a portrait of George Washington.

"I sit the salesmen where they have to face the picture when they talk," he says, "but it doesn't do any good."

LEARN TO PLAY BY RADIO—LATEST FOR NOVICES

LEARN TO play by radio.

Time was when a golf aspirant was seen on the links with a book in one hand and golf sticks in the other. Or he had an instructor with him.

That still is the practice for many a novice on the golf, tennis or other fields.

But if you want to advance with the times, set up a radio set at the tee and listen to an instruction from an expert at a broadcasting station.

A well-known golf club near New York has installed a radio system at each tee. At regular hours, an instructor broadcasts his lessons to novices on the links. That enlarges his class ninefold.

Or, if a player is wanted at the clubhouse, a call is sent out for him by radio. That eliminates much foot-work for messengers.

In billiards, too, radio is playing its part as means of instruction. Instead of "expert" advice from the onlookers, the new player gets real help from a recognized expert by radio.

The same kind of instruction is expected in other fields of sport.

SUMMER IS POOR TIME FOR RADIO FANS; EXPERT SHOWS WHY WINTER IS BEST

BY PAUL F. GOBLEY

America's Foremost Radio Authority
OG days are poor days for radio reception.

The best results are obtained during the winter months.

This fact is illustrated graphically in the chart which shows the strength of signals received at Washington from Philadelphia (represented by the dotted line) and Norfolk (solid line), located respectively at distances of 110 and 160 miles.

These curves were recorded over a period of approximately two years and give a fair idea of the relative strength of reception from month to month.

Both of these stations were operating on a wave length of 1900 meters. Had they used a shorter length, 360 meters for example, the variation in signal strength would have been considerably greater.

MORE STATIC
Not only are the signals weaker during the summer months than during the winter but the amount of interference due to natural causes (static) is greatly increased.

Radio cannot fully come into its own until some means of counteracting or offsetting these natural effects have been devised.

On the shorter wave length, the rise and fall of signal strength is also very marked at sunset and sunrise. During the night, the absorption of the electrical energies caused by the sunlight are absent and, depending on several other factors, extremely small signal energies may penetrate to great distances.

This effect is most noticeable during the winter.

Even during the daytime in cold weather, particularly if it happens to be dark, signals from small stations have been received at great distances.

BEST RESULTS

The best results are recorded between 4:30 p. m. and 8:30 a. m. during the winter.

Winter nighttime conditions are responsible for the record-breaking reception of low-power stations at great distances.

British naval vessels off the coast of Australia heard a low-power telephone station on the Pacific coast last winter.
